Power-line opposition burns on

by STACEY A. SABADASH
Lakeland Newspapers

It was standing room only as about 100 concerned citizens turned out to a People and Citizens Together (PACT) meeting Tuesday night at Lake Villa Village Hall.

The group, for the most part, was equally represented by residents of Lake Villa, West Miltmore and Loon Lake.

The purpose of the meeting was to discuss Commonwealth Edison's proposal to run high-voltage lines through the village.

Contrary to some residents' thinking, representatives from Com Ed were not present.

PACT spokesman Todd Shoffeitt said he did not invite Com Ed because he feared the meeting might "turn into a yelling match."

Instead, it was a chance for PACT to receive citizen feedback, answer questions and encourage people to be vocal in their opposition.

"I came to this meeting with the idea of gauging how people are feeling. I'm getting the feeling that this is not a dead issue," Shoffeitt told the group.

Lake Villa Village Trustee Frank M. Loffredo started the meeting by informing the group of three proposals on the board from Com Ed.

The first, he said, would be to get a re-route along Rte. 45 and west on Rte. 173.

Another would be to move the entire line up Rte. 83 to Antioch.

The newest option is to run the system partially underground.

Cost, however, is the prohibiting factor in burying the lines along the entire route.

"They (Com Ed) have to defend their costs to the Illinois Commerce Commission. They felt they could defend going underground because of the safety concern," Shoffeitt said.

"The ICC requires them to use the most cost-effective method. They've got to be able to justify any extra expense," he said.

Red Wing talks go behind closed doors

by JOSEPH SOULAK
Lakeland Newspapers

Antioch will go behind closed doors to find out what the Illinois Dept. of Conservation plans for The Deer Lake-Red Wing Marsh at Deep Lake Rd. and Rte. 173.

The department has reduced plans to condemn 50 acres to 36 acres. Owner Gregory Miller, who would like to proceed with his own development plans for the area, knows little.

The Antioch Township Homeowners Assn., with some members living in the nearby Hidden Creek subdivision, would also like to know what is happening.

There is speculation the department is waiting for the state to lift a budget freeze.

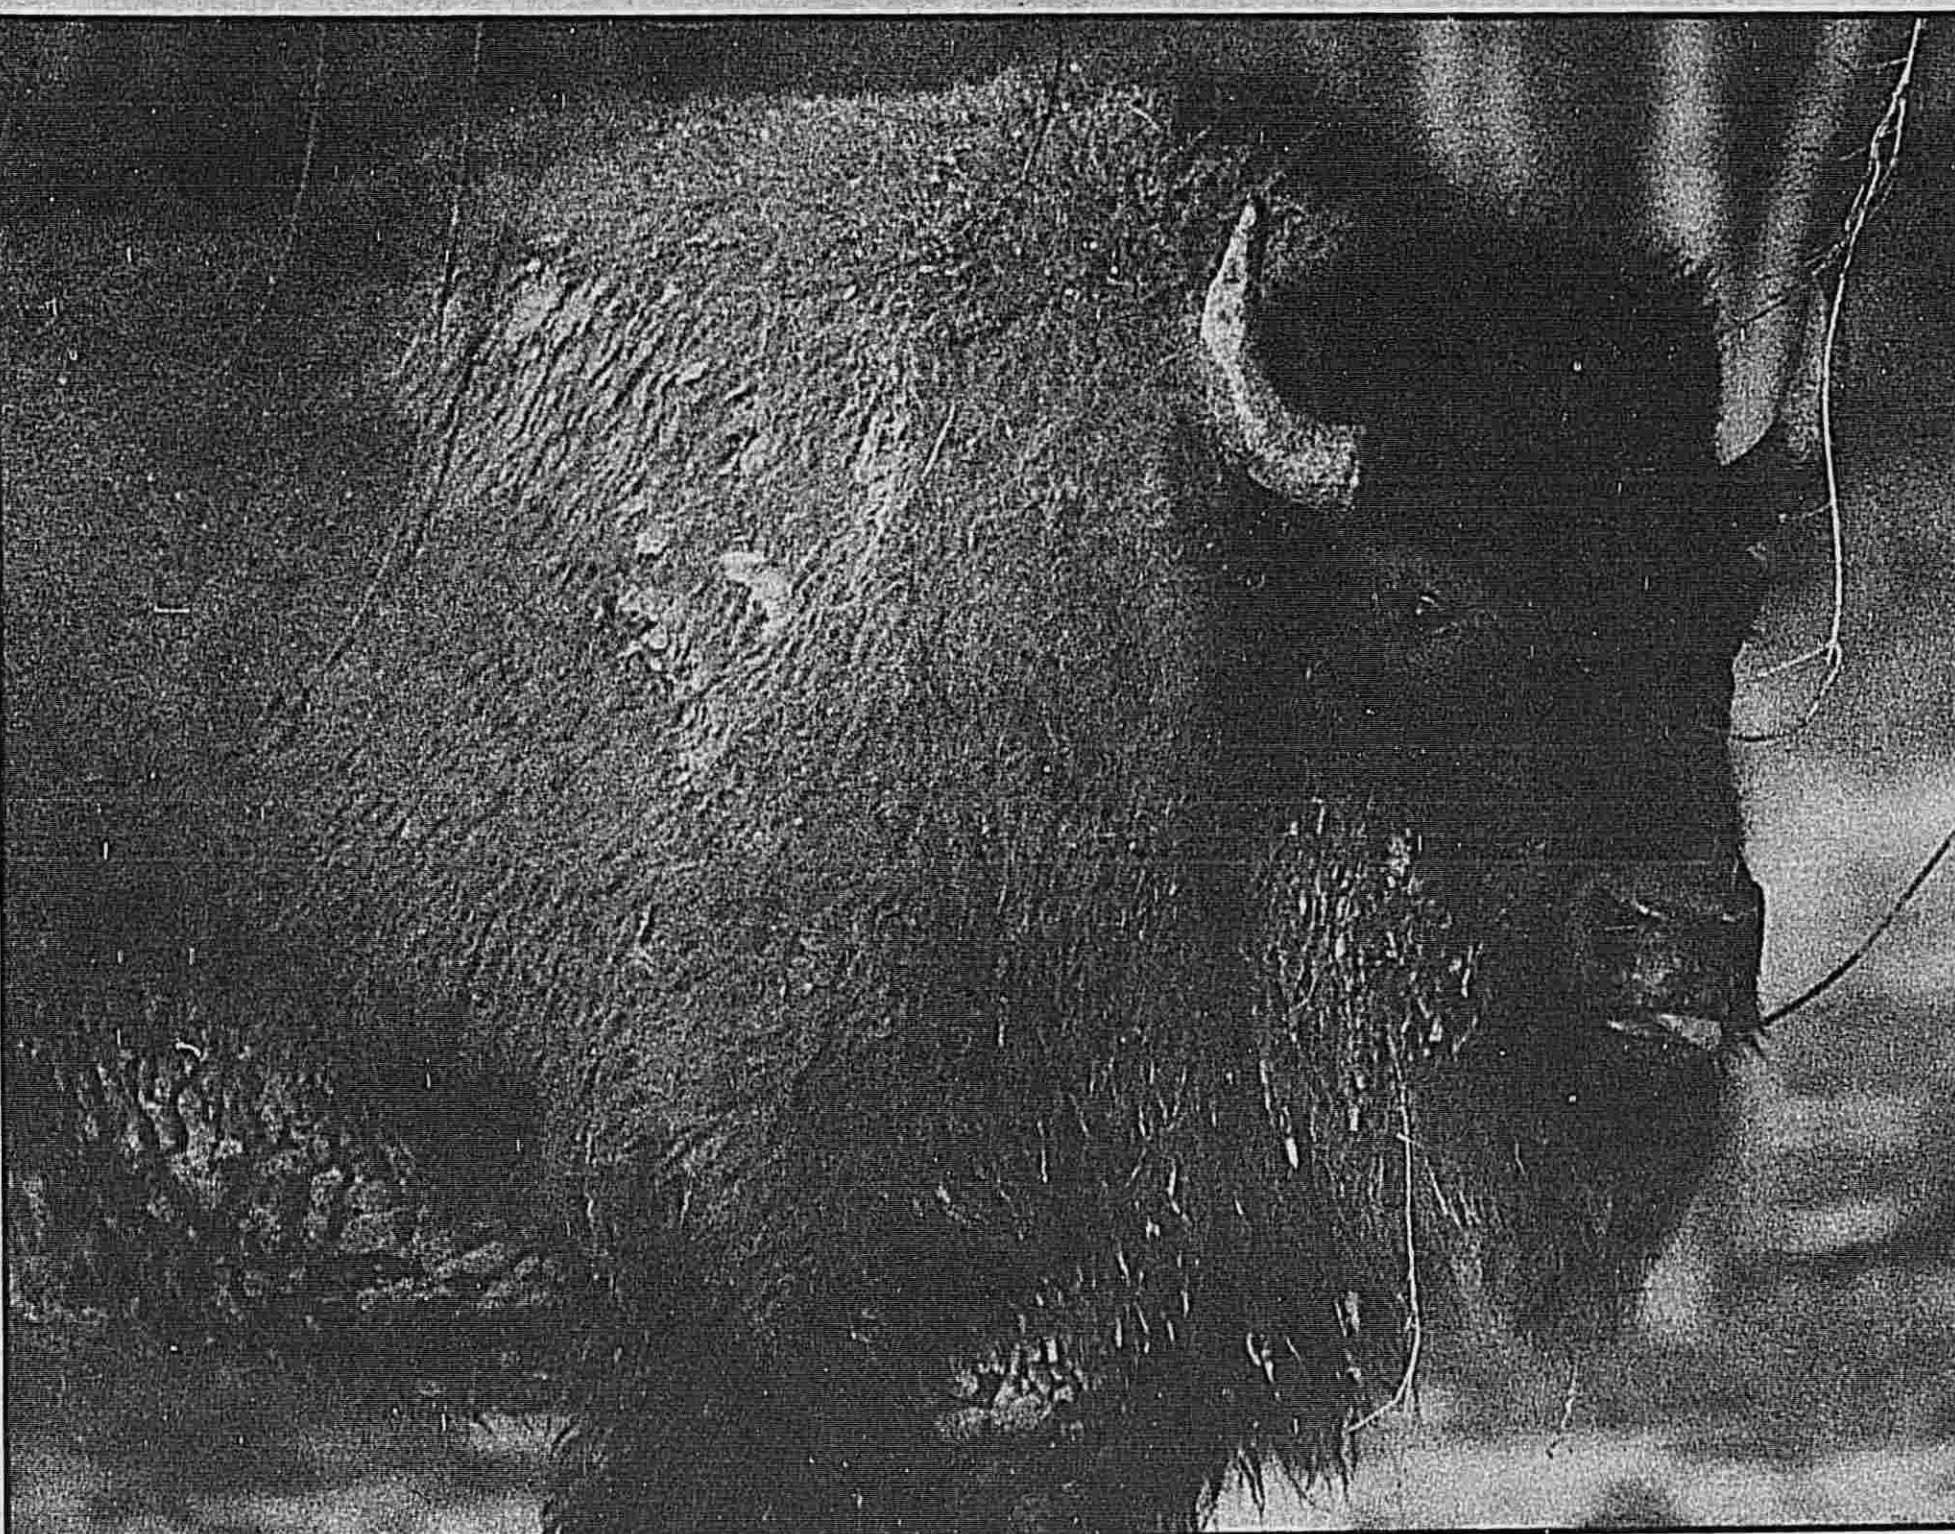

Miller would like to construct a subdivision bordering Red Wing Marsh.

Antioch Village Atty. Kenneth Gray said representatives of the conservation department will only meet with the village board in closed session. "They do not want to discuss price or acquisition procedures in the open," he said about affecting land values.

At one time the department said it did not want to acquire the property by condemnation.

Village officials are concerned. They want to know how much interest the state actually has in acquiring the property, how it will be purchased and plans for its future use.

Gray said he will ask conservation department officials to attend a future meeting along with state Rep. Robert Churchill (R-Lake Villa) or state Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion.) Also invited will be one or two representatives of the township homeowners association.

Residents continue fighting tower

LAKE ZURICH—The vote may be in but the fight is not over. Although a divided Lake Zurich village board approved plans to build a water storage tower in Henry J. Paulus Park by a 4-2 vote Monday evening, the issue is not dead. Mayor James Kay has vetoed the vote thus sending it back to the board for a repeat vote at their next regular scheduled board meeting, Feb. 17. In the meantime, citizens will have an opportunity to learn the facts surrounding the selection of Paulus Park as the site for the new tower at a special meeting of the board slated for Feb. 11 in the Lake Zurich High School auditorium. Previously billed as an informational meeting, Mayor Kay has called for it to be a special meeting of the board to present the facts to the public.

Gavin schools trying new learning method

FOX LAKE — Gavin School District 37 is one of just four districts in the state to be selected as pilot schools for a revolutionary learning method called Teaching Integrated Math and Science (TIMS). Students and teachers at the three Gavin schools have been involved in the program since the school year began. "We're kind of at the forefront right now," said Theresa Dunkin, the principal at Gavin Central. "I think we'll see this at schools all over the country." TIMS is being tested because many educators believe we lose most of what we learn about math and science by the time we're adults.

Protest filed against Prate development

WAUCONDA—A written protest against a 93-unit townhome development was filed with the Village of Wauconda Jan. 27 and appears to contain signatures from 20 percent of the property owners adjacent to what is planned as the Parkview subdivision. By state statute, if 20 percent of the property owners adjacent to a site slated for development submit a written view of a project, a two-thirds vote is required by the village board on the matter. The move exempts the mayor or village president from voting on the issue.

Awards given at YWCA meeting

WAUKEGAN—At the YWCA of Lake County's annual membership business meeting held Jan. 21, two major awards were given. Edna J. Schade, president of the board of directors presented the Golden YC Award to Lee Grossman, recently retired from Abbott Laboratories, in appreciation of his volunteerism and efforts within the business community as an advocate of quality child care. The Employee of the Year Award for 1991 was presented to Lee Ann Holler, Parent Services Coordinator by Executive Director Mary E. Reljic for showing exemplary service throughout the year.

Community effort to fight drugs grows

LAKE ZURICH—Community representatives joined together last weekend to further develop a comprehensive substance abuse prevention plan for Lake Zurich, Hawthorn Woods, Kildeer and Deer Park when the Lake Zurich Area Assembly on the Prevention of Alcohol and other Drug Abuse held its second meeting Feb. 1. The assembly's second meeting resulted in the formation of five community action teams. The assembly, which is comprised of civic officials, educators, business leaders, youths and citizens, first met in September 1991 and outlined a one-year plan to address substance abuse issues.

Villages iron out subdivision pact

GRAYSLAKE—Grayslake and Hainesville officials patted each other on the back and hoping the remaining issues will not pose roadblocks for Deerpoint Trails. Grayslake village board approved by a 6-0 vote an intergovernmental agreement with Hainesville regarding the 80-acre development off Rte. 120. While the agreement may have ironed out the differences between the two villages, issues still to be worked out include school donations and access to sewers. Grayslake was seeking larger lot sizes of homes next to the village's West Trails subdivision.

Citizens' fight with Com Ed heats up

LAKE VILLA—About 100 people attended a People and Citizens Together (PACT) meeting Tuesday night to discuss Commonwealth Edison's proposal to run high-voltage lines through Lake Villa. The meeting drew citizens from West Milmore, Lake Villa and Loon Lake. Residents were informed of Com Ed's three alternative proposals to date, the most recent of which is to run the power lines partially underground. PACT spokesman Todd Shoffeitt said lines cannot be run completely underground because of cost. The Illinois Commerce Commission requires Com Ed to use the most cost-effective method, he said. Residents still were concerned that EMF emission may not be reduced with the lines underground. PACT members will continue to oppose the power lines.

Dist. 116 introduces tentative budget cuts

ROUND LAKE—District 116 officials are preparing to hear arguments for and against tentative budget cuts for the 1992-93 year totaling $713, 323. The proposed cuts released earlier this week include elimination of nearly 21 certified staff positions and more than six clerical and non-certified positions plus several classes and programs. If approved, the tentative cuts will be added to those already in place from the last two years. Sherman emphasized, however, the list of cuts is subject to change with recommendations from district residents and from the teachers union. On Feb. 10 at 7:30 p.m. in the Round Lake High School theater a public hearing will be held on the tentative cuts.

Officials discuss comprehensive plan

LINDENHURST—Lindenhurst village board members met with a land planner earlier this week to discuss work on its village comprehensive plan. Konstantine T. Savoy of Teska Associates Inc. highlighted some of the areas in the contract it is presenting to update Lindenhurst's 1983 comprehensive plan. Though nothing is definite yet, Savoy presented some options available to the board regarding the rewrite of the comprehensive plan, as well as a possible fiscal analysis of land use alternatives, review of the zoning ordinance and the subdivision ordinance and a land use and design plan of how Rte. 45 should be developed.

Board to examine senior complex plan

FOX LAKE — Plans for a $5.4-million senior-citizen housing complex will be studied by the Fox Lake Zoning and Planning Board during a Wednesday, Feb. 12 meeting. The complex would be built on a wooded 4.4-acre parcel of land just off Rollins Road. Dr. William Dam and Leonard Dam, developers of the proposed complex, will ask the board to rezone the property from business to residential with a special use. "So many seniors have asked me to assist them in finding senior housing that I hope some of them come to the hearing," Dr. Dam said. The five-story, 104-unit complex would include extra amenities, including craft rooms and workshops, Dr. Dam said.

Skokie Valley hearing on Feb. 11

GRAYSLAKE—Another large crowd is expected at a Grayslake Zoning Board of Appeals hearing Feb. 11. The 7 p.m. meeting will be at Grayslake Community High School. The ZBA will be considering a conditional use permit from Skokie Valley Asphalt. A citizens' group, Citizens Against Asphalt Pollution, testified last month and may be questioned by company officials this time.

Villages consider water interconnect

LINDENHURST—Lindenhurst village board members recently discussed a proposed interconnect between the water systems of both villages. The interconnect would let each village tap into the other's water lines should an emergency arise. "We would only utilize it in an emergency to keep from getting contaminated water," said Lindenhurst Mayor Paul Baumunk. The interconnect would be between two eight-inch lines at Deep Lake Road and Grand Avenue.

Whippletree Farm brings European flair to antiques

by ELLEN RUTLIN
Lakeland Newspapers

A melting pot of design and cultural tradition is encompassed in nearly 10,000 square feet of antiques at Whippletree Farm Antiques.

Owner Gerry Lorenz travels to Europe once or twice a year to bring back ornate treasures from enormous buffets and wardrobes to smaller but striking end tables and chairs.

Whippletree Farm Antiques has been in business for 25 years in Wauconda. It operated at the Wauconda Apple Orchard for 12 years before moving to its current location at 210 Main St.

"Since then we've had a change in image," said employee Betty Cordin. "We're able to carry more impressive pieces."

The store has become a well-known "secret" to many antique hungry residents in the North Shore and metropolitan Chicago who visit regularly.

"People drop in each week and ask 'what's new,'" Cordin said. "It's amazing. People buy quite a bit here because they know it'll be gone the next week.

"The comments of our customers indicate we have more antiques than any other shop they've ever seen. Very few places have this amount of inventory,"

'Many of our customers think this is their secret, but now the secret is out'

—Betty Cordin, employee

she added. "From the very best quality to the affordable gifts."

Immediately inside the front door of Whippletree Farm, customers are greeted by a large selection of European furniture collected from various countries overseas. The rich, dark, ornate wood used in the European design offers a myriad of possibilities to interior decorators.

The second half of the first floor is filled with harvest gold colors of primitive country and American-style antique oak pieces decorated with an assortment of antique additions including crocks, scales, baskets and pictures from the past.

Unusual pieces from wood boxes to larger architectural pieces are a part of the collection.

Upstairs, dressers, headboards and groupings are ready to fill a room for customers who want to avoid a long mix-n-match hunt to decorate a room in their home.

Lorenz is often not at his shop. Each day he attends another auction or travels to discover a new source of antiques to bring to his shop. It's a seven-day-a-week job, according to Cordin.

Among the services offered to customers at Whippletree Farm Antiques are delivery (service charge varies), consignment and auctioning services. For a fee, Lorenz is willing to take a customer's item to an auction for sale.

Whippletree Antiques is open seven-days-a-week from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

"Many of our customers think this is their secret," Cordin smiled. "But now the secret is out."

Whippletree Farm Antiques offers the best of rich European flair and primitive American country charm.

Child abuse prevention program slated for county

by RHONDA VINZANT
Lakeland Newspapers

Two programs are on-tap next week to help parents and professionals learn to deal with the topics of child abuse and prevention in Lake County.

A program entitled "Child Abuse and Prevention in Lake County," is being co-sponsored by the Lake County State's Attorney, Lake County Regional Superintendent of Schools Office and the school law firm of Robbins, Schwartz, Nicholas, Lifton & Taylor, Ltd.

The program, for which there is no charge, is scheduled to be held from 8 a.m. to 12 p.m., Feb. 14, at the College of Lake County Auditorium, Room C-005, 19351 W. Washington, Grayslake, Ill.

"The idea of the program is to put together a joint program with other experts who deal with different aspects of child abuse problems," said Nancy Libman Luck, one of the coordinators. "We have sent invitations to school districts, day care centers, police departments and hospitals about the program which is open to the public as well." She added that the intent of the program is for the experts to learn the role other agency's play in dealing with the situation and what is being done to stem child abuse and punish offenders. The program will also address psychological and medical aspects of abuse and signs to look for in children who might be abused.

Speakers and topics at the program will include: Edward Gonwa, Regional Superintendent of Schools who will serve as moderator; Mike Waller, Lake County State's Attorney will discuss prosecution of child abusers; Allen D. Schwartz and Libman Luck, of Robbins, Schwartz, Nicholas, Lifton & Taylor, LTD will discuss compliance with the Illinois Abused and Neglected Child Reporting Act.

Other speakers will be Cathy Pilkington, Deputy General Counsel, Department of Children & Family Services (DCFS) who will discuss investigation of child abuse and neglect by that agency; Dr. Peter Fink, Assistant Professor of Psychiatry and Assistant Professor of Pediatrics, Rush Medical College, Chicago, Psychological and Medical Aspects of Child Abuse and Neglect; Laura Notson, Director of the Lake County Children's Advocacy Center, will speak on the role of the children's advocacy center. An optional tour of the Lake County Children's Advocacy Center will follow the program.

To register for the program, write to Child Abuse Program, c/o Robbins, Schwartz, Nicholas, Lifton & Taylor, Ltd., 29 South LaSalle Street, Suite 860, Chicago, Ill., 60603 or call (312) 332-7760.

Libman Luck said that a similar program was held in DuPage County last fall and attracted nearly two hundred persons.

Program promotes safety for children with disabilities

Parents of children enrolled in programs through the Special Education District of Lake County are invited to a presentation by Jane Hunter, Lake Council Against Sexual Assault, entitled "Sexual Safety for Children with Disabilities...What every parents Needs to Know."

The program is designed to help parents of children with disabilities advise their children on how to be safe and strong, to avoid situations where they could be in danger of sexual assault and to report threats of harm to trusted adults. It will also help parents recognize the warning signs that children may exhibit.

This is the first year the SEDOL parent Advisory Council has offered such a program for its parents. "The statistics show that a very high percentage of children are sexually assaulted each year," said Frances Abbott of SEDOL. "We want parents of kids with disabilities to have an opportunity to learn about the signs a child might exhibit if a victim and other information."

The program will be held Feb. 13, 1992 from 7 - 9 p.m. in the Warren Township High School Auditorium, 500 N. O'Plaine Road, Gurnee.

During the presentation, the SEDOL Kids on the BLOCK Troupe will present a skit using puppets who have disabilities and those who do not to help children without disabilities relate to those who are disabled.

No tickets will be sold at the door for the GOP event, said Gordy Kiesgen, chairman of the Grant Township Republican's Club. For tickets, call Kiesgen at (708) 587-0371.

"The tickets are selling really well," Kiesgen said. "We expect a very big crowd."

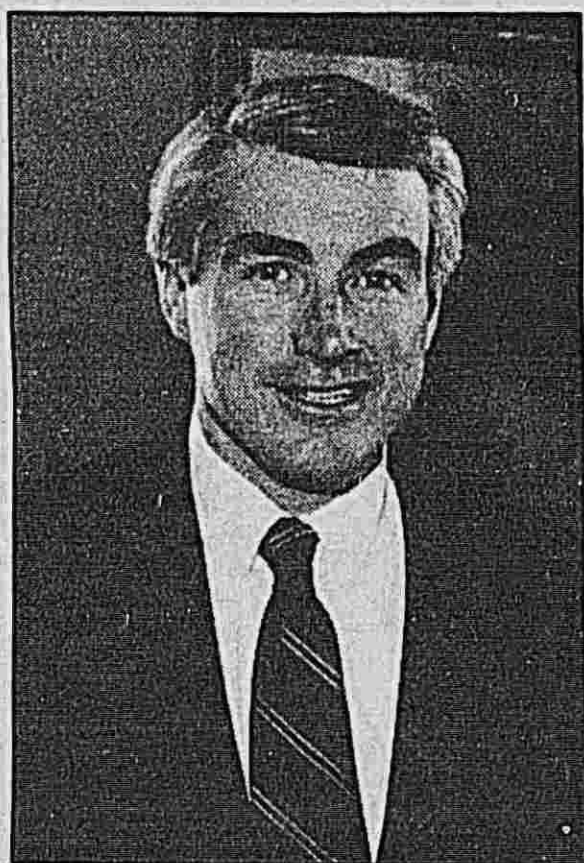

Kiesgen said no specific topic has been set for the governor's talk.

In addition, the gathering will feature candidates for both county and state seats.

The tickets for the sit-down prime rib dinner are $18. The cocktail hour

Think Tank begins new program for black males

by DEBRA A. SCHWARTZ
Lakeland Newspapers

Does an ounce of intervention and a little prevention equal a cure?

Barbara Gordon hopes so. As a founder and guiding spirit of the African American Think Tank of Lake County, she started the program with Waukegan-based Lyons School principal Rev. Olen Arrington, Jr. to provide alternative activities for black youths.

"We have to invest in our people. They deserve the same opportunity to excel as household, how do you just say no when it's your bread and butter?" Gordon said.

"We firmly believe that children, given alternative activities and behaviors, will gravitate to those things. But they need a reason to say no, because they know there's another way," she said.

Many of the youths taking advantage of Think Tank are from low-income households run by single females, Gordon said. Interventions recommended by the group are handled by the Lake County Community Action Project.

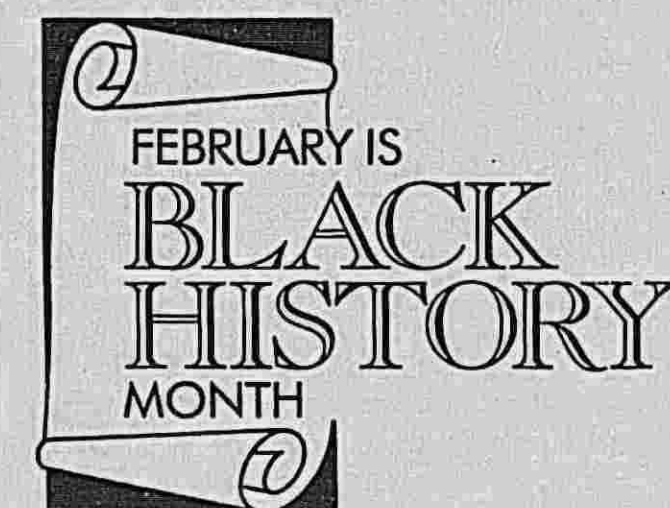

"These children are having to grow up at a very early age. At five and six, they probably have more knowledge about things you and I learned when we got to be 15 years old. These kids are in for survival — getting off the street before dark becomes an activity. Can they survive at home or will they be better off on the street? Some have chosen the street as a safer alternative," Gordon said.

Two special programs have been scheduled by Think Tank during February, one for a night and one long term. From 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. Friday at Elmwood School in Zion, 3025 Ezra Ave., Think Tank will host a focus on the contributions blacks have made to American society. Gregory Gordon of the College of Lake County will provide a brief history; Dr. William Earl Woods will discuss the evolution of black music; and Waukegan-based psychologist Eddy Williams will offer insights on the myth, folklore and language of black culture. Keynote speaker Cassell Lawson, vice president of academic affairs at Gateway Technical College in Kenosha, will inspire a celebration of African heritage. The Youth Think Tank Academy has written and will present an original skit highlighting famous black people and their contributions to America.

Activating a long-planned goal, Think Tank's Residential Reeducation Ranch will begin Feb. 21 at Recruit Training Command Great Lakes on Buckley Road east of Route 41.

Twenty young black males will spend a weekend at the ranch where they will be assigned an adult role model determined after a personality profile has been conducted on both participants. "Many of the children have role models, but they might be inappropriate. We want to show the young males that there are alternative activities and behaviors that will cause them to be more successful in life," Gordon said.

For more information, call Gordon at 249-4330.

anyone else in this country," said Gordon, executive director of the Lake County Community Action Project in Waukegan.

Think Tank, formed 18 months ago, consists of an adult faction as well as a youth group. Its older membership is comprised of professional and lay people from the African American community, including teachers, lawyers, executive managers, police officers and juvenile authorities. They gather twice monthly at the Lake County Community Action Project office to discuss problems children are confronted with as early as age five, including drugs, gang violence, physical, emotional and sexual abuse.

Unstructured to maximize creative flow of ideas, Think Tank hopes to offer educational scholarships in the near future. Though it has focused its efforts on young black males, discussion groups are also provided for "young sisters," Gordon said.

"They need somebody to hear what they have to say and what life is like for them, what conditions are for them and what is going on in their world. We don't have a therapist on board, all we have is somebody who will listen and point them in the direction they should go, and sometimes, that's all they need. Funds are not such that we can hire someone to do this. We need parent volunteers," Gordon said.

More importantly, "just say no" is fine on the street, "but when you're in a

D.A.R.E. fights war on drugs with education

by RHONDA VINZANT
Lakeland Newspapers

A drug abuse prevention program that focuses on teaching youngsters how to deal with stress and promotes self-esteem graduated its first participants, Jan. 31.

The first group of graduates from Antioch's D.A.R.E. program took center stage Friday to receive certificates from police officers, village trustees and the school officials in the William C. Petty school gymnasium. Ninety fifth-graders received diplomas from the program.

D.A.R.E., Drug Abuse Resistance Education, strives to reduce the supply of controlled substances by reducing the demand for them. This is accomplished through education. The program teaches students decision-making skills and how to deal with stress and peer pressure.

"The program is designed to raise self-esteem and confidence levels," said Officer James Foerster of the Antioch Police Department who facilitated DARE. "It teaches kids to say no and how to make the right decisions in life."

The D.A.R.E. program began in Los Angeles in the early 1980s and has since been adapted by police departments and school districts throughout the nation. It arrived in Illinois in 1986. This is the first year the program has been taught in the Antioch Schools.

D.A.R.E. came to the fifth and sixth grade students in Antioch school as the result of the combined efforts of Police Chief Chuck Miller, Village Trustees Larry Hanson and Mabel Lou Weber and the school district.

D.A.R.E., is taught by specially trained police officers. Foerster, who is the department's community education officer, participated in an 80-hour training course to become certified to teach the program. He combines his one day per week teaching duties with four days on the job as a patrol officer. The nearly 8-year-veteran of the force is also the department's training officer.

During his 17 weeks with the four fifth-grade classes, he spent the entire Tuesday with the students. Each class period lasted 50 minutes and the remainder of the school day Foerster spent eating lunch with the students, joining them at recess and even stopping in and joining gym classes. "I wanted them to see me in a different light than as a policeman or in the classroom. I wanted them to see me as someone they can relate to," he added noting that positive identification of police officers by students is another goal of D.A.R.E.

Among the 17 lesson topics are: building self-esteem, assertiveness, managing stress, media influence, support systems, resisting gang pressures and taking a stand.

During Friday's graduation ceremony Principal Paul Hain said, "The program shows a commitment by our unified communities to take action against the spread of illegal drugs. This program symbolizes the desire of our communities that you (the students) will grow-up drug free, be good citizens and make great contributions to our world."

Half of the school's fifth graders were trained last fall and the other group of classes is in their second week of the program.

Two students from each of the four classes received special recognition for the essays they had written on the D.A.R.E. program. The essay winners were: Denise Colby, William Del'Ve, Meghan Dyer, Christen Huspen, Kenneth Cichon, Lindy Gaylor, Kelly Haley and Maureen Moran.

Students graduating the program from Bob Eisen's class were: Paul Bartell, John Bestler, Amanda Calvert, Marc Colatino, Colby, Jake Cramond, Rhonda Deckert, Del'Ve, Joshua Groetsema, Carina Hauenstein, Sara Hilger, Kristen Hungarland, Brian Klinzing, Lyndi Kulidge, Drew Lang, Katie LaPlante, Bridget Martens, Anthony Monteleone, Jeffrey Rajamaki, Edward Rotchford, John Sartoris, Timothy Walker, and Adam Zakroczymski.

Graduating from Lynn Harrison's room were: Bryan Boring, Paul Cavanaugh, Cichon, Steven Coolbaugh, Dena Cuenco, Scott Dalton, Nicole Daugherty, Shaun Dexheimer, Gaylor, Kristy Goetz, Vanessa Golladay, Jennifer Groth, Kimberly Hansen, Erika Johnson, Rachel Kotrba, Jacob Manning, Nadia Pawlowski, Nicole Ring, Lauren Rudek, Cara Schrey, Teresa Walsh, Jamie Wismer and Sabrina Yousif.

Graduating from Sue Roche's classroom were: Monica Bashe, Nate Carden, Matt Chinski, Kevin Collins, Amber Dusak, J.J. Edwards, Kristina Emody, Fred Fetting, Eric Green, Samantha Griffin, Haley, Luke Haley, Jenny Hatcher, Tom Jehlicka, Brad Marchildon, Rebecca Miranda, Moran, Ricky Rivas, Tom Schnelle, Jim Scribner, J.T. Stone, Leena Ulsch and Gino Yeko.

Fifth-graders from Frank Bessette's class receive their D.A.R.E. graduation diplomas and handshakes from Antioch Police Chief Chuck Miller, Bessette, Principal Paul Hain and Officer James Foerster. The William C. Petty Fifth graders were the first to graduate from the D.A.R.E. program in District 34.

Businesses halt new smoke detector law

by JOSEPH SOULAK
Lakeland Newspapers

Enforcement of a new smoke detector ordinance for Antioch businesses, restaurants and industry is being temporarily delayed because of a petition signed by owners of nine restaurants.

The ordinance passed in August 1990 is to take effect in May. It requires an around-the-clock smoke detection system.

"This ordinance is regarded as unnecessary and financially devastating," the nine signers said in a letter to the village board.

One of the signers, Bob Fidesky of the Lakeside Restaurant, 410 Lake St., said the cost of installing a smoke detector system is $1,400 to $1,600. On top of this is a $100 to $200 monthly charge to connect to a central fire alarm system monitored at the village hall.

"It's nice if you can afford it," Fidesky said. "You've got to put the money up front. But in a place like this I can't. I work like a dog 16 hours a day and make, maybe, $1,400 a month. I just had to make $2,000 worth of cooler repairs. Now, I am losing sleep because of falling behind in some of my other bills."

Other signers are Ted Urbitis of Fisherman's Dream, Kris Katris of the Las Vegas, Joe Petulis of the Village Pub, Jeff Blum of T.S. Boogies, the Tasos brothers of Portofinos, Randy Millers of Struggles, Joe Badame of Weasels and Bob Smith of Smith Marine.

Other reasons by the writers for not wanting the ordinance are:

- Insurance rates would not be affected, contrary to previous statement by the village.

- All buildings and businesses are in compliance with existing village codes.

- The initial investment plus monthly cost would provide no substantial return.

- The threat of withholding village licenses and permits for non-conforming businesses does not foster a good business climate.

Bob Shannon, safety inspector with the fire department, was charged by the writers with a "confrontational posture and attitude (on this subject with some businesses) that goes against the spirit of civic-business cooperation."

The writers also said they are "reeling from plummeting sales and profit and in no position to accept additional expenses or government regulations."

Trustee Marilyn Shineflug said the fire detector issue started with concern for apartment fires safety of residents.

She and Trustee John Amundsen agreed the question is "human life and protection." They urged final action in two weeks.

Between now and then the village will look at state law on which the new village ordinance is based.

Atty. Kenneth Clark suggested one way around the issue is to "grandfather" existing businesses.

Whatever decision is made, it will apply to businesses, apartments, factories and all other affected enterprises.

ACHS student arrested after threatening dean

by ELLEN RUTLIN
Lakeland Newspapers

An Antioch High School student was arrested for disorderly conduct after threatening bodily harm to the dean of students.

Clarence W. Williams, dean of students, contacted police during a conference with the juvenile and the juvenile's father regarding suspension.

According to police reports, the juvenile threatened Williams during the conference stating he had access to several guns and was not afraid to use them on anybody.

Williams reportedly told the juvenile student that threats would not be tolerated and if threats continued during the conference the police department would be called.

When the threats continued, Williams felt alarmed and contacted police.

After speaking with police, the juvenile realized the severity of the threats he made. He was taken into custody for disorderly conduct.

He was released to his father pending a court date of Feb. 26 in Fox Lake.

Water rust blamed on sediment

Cleaning of a village water tower in advance of painting this spring will be done as a test to evaluate the $2,900 cost.

The 300,000-gallon spheroid-style tower is located near Lyons-Ryan Ford on Rte. 173.

It has not been painted or inspected for 11 years.

Water Dept. Supt. Michael Ruxton said the tower is long overdue for cleaning. This is evident by the periodic rusty water that gets into the system.

He blamed this, partially, on a nearby well. It sometimes pumps sand along with water. This builds up below the six-foot standpipe inside the tower. When high winds shift the tower or water pressure falls, the years of accumulated sand and sediment get into the system. Users see it as rust.

"That is when I get complaints," Ruxton said. "Regular cleaning and maintenance will reduce the complaints and assure the quality of water we pump."

Village trustees quickly approved the one-time cleaning, but balked at an annual contract. Ruxton wants the cleaning done annually.

Cleaning and painting of tower No. 2 will be done during a period of low use.

Two police officers praised

Two Antioch policemen have been commended by the Lake County Sheriff's Dept. for assisting with an arrest of a person at Lang's Resort late last month.

When sheriff's deputy Cpl. Curt Corsi was dispatched to the resort in response to a call about an unruly subject with suicidal tendencies he called Antioch for a backup.

Sent to the resort were Antioch officers David Walsh and Ron Kay. They joined Corsi and a second sheriff's deputy, Don Barrette.

Outside was a large crowd. Inside was a man attempting to cut himself with a piece of broken glass. Walsh and Kay knew the man and attempted to talk him into surrendering.

Eventually, the man inside was taken into custody.

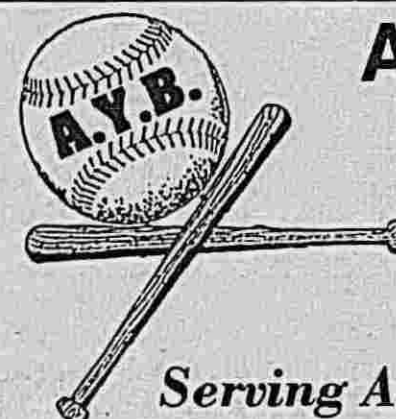

Corsi said Walsh and Kay talked to the man inside and displayed an exemplary attitude toward the crowd to diffuse a potentially explosive situation. "As a command officer with the sheriff's department it gives me great confidence to know that officers such as Walsh and Kay are available to assist the county when requested. They are a credit to the law enforcement profession."

Antioch Library

On Feb. 20, Carolyn Stein-Stillman will be on hand at the Antioch Library to give a dramatic review of a current book. There will be a sign posted at the library as a reminder of the date and time. She is well-known for her reviews and her drama throughout Chicago land. There will be a meeting of the Library Board at 4:30 p.m. on Feb. 25 in the library meeting room. The library is in the process of forming a "Friends of the Library" group. This group will perform an important role that will benefit the library. They will raise extra funds, lobby for the library, and help in the library itself as volunteers. If you are interested in being a member of "The Friends of the Library", please contact Kathy LaBuda at (708)395-0874. The library would like to thank the following people and organizations for various donations in September, October and November: Jane Krahn, Lucille Kuechenmeister, Harry and Carol Hanson, Bruce D.

Young, Glen and Barb Witherbee, David and Wendi McAlonan, Mr. & Mrs. Raymond Toft, and the Antioch Woman's Club.

Order now

In honor of Antioch's Centennial birthday celebration, the ALGS/PTO is now selling the centennial cookbook "Celebrating Our Past". The cookbook contains over 150 favorite family recipes of all kinds submitted by our own Antioch area residents. Many are old recipes that have been handed down from generation to generation. Your taste buds will be tempted with main dishes, side dishes, desserts, etc. The price of the cookbook is only $5 and if you would like more information on how to obtain a copy of "Celebration Our Past", contact Shirley Boring at (708)395-2988. I understand that one of the recipes I submitted has been included in the book. So now you have several reasons to entice you to place an order for the Centennial cookbook, it is a special keepsake of Antioch's 100th birthday; it is an excellent collection of tasty proven recipes; it is a terrific way to support the ALGS/PTO; and last (but hopefully no least) it is your opportunity to discover what "The Lizard" cooks best. Naturally I will be purchasing a copy ASAP.

Small world

I recently had the pleasant opportunity to talk with Dolores Faltynek of Antioch. Dolores and her husband, Bob, retired too our "Hometown" from the south side of Chicago, four years ago. They had been vacationing and visiting our area for many, many years knowing they would eventually settle in Antioch full time. Dolores called to tell me how she recently discovered it is truly "A Small World Afterall". On a recent Caribbean cruise Dolores and Bob got to chit chatting with a couple from the Wisconsin Dells area. When Wisconsinites, Dick and Mary Marsich, found out they were talking to someone from Antioch they mentioned they had relatives in Antioch and guess who their relatives were. If you guessed "The Lizard" and hubby, Jim, you are 100% correct. Dick and Mary are Jim's cousins who enjoy reading back copies of "Hometown Goodies". Therefore when they met Dolores and Bob they not only had cruise experiences to share but they could also talk about our "Hometown" happenings as put down in "Hometown Goodies". Yep, once again we learn how we are all connected by circumstances (fate) and yes, Dolores, this is definitely proof that it is a "Small World"!

Theatre time

Theatre goers are invited to opening night of the P.M.&L. production "The Runner Stumbles" on Feb. 14. There will be a champagne party following the performance which will give everyone an opportunity to mingle and talk with the cast members. The members of the cast are Tracy Kiederlen, Patrick Kerr, Donna Abear, Steve Willding, Diane Hoshen, Phillip Jaeger, Lou Jones, Karen Jones, and Shane Kisner. Mark Badtke is the director and Janet Reynolds is the stage manager. For reservations or further information call (708)395-3055.

Recognize sweetheart

Don't forget it is almost time to honor the sweetheart(s) in your life as Valentine Day is only one week away. Let's see how would "The Lizard" like to be acknowledged-maybe with "Butterfingers"?!

Birthdays

What does the beginning of February stand for? That's right, time once again for "Hometown Goodies" birthday review. Happy February birthday to Kaleb Barrett, Matt Friel, Charlie Miller, Lindsey Teaters (incidentally grandma I now know how to spell your daughter's name-Lori), Charlie Spencer, Crystal O'Brien, Matt Schultz, Missy Olenick and Patrick Smerz, Chris Nicolay, Debbie Deates, Jerry Olesky, Dick Wlezien, Trudy Grob, Ade-

Letters to the Editor

Fed up

Editor:

Bauer's By The Bay Restaurant owner, Eddie Bauer, remarked that the motorcycle races he sponsored on Sunday, Jan. 19, at his Loon Lake restaurant was his "best day" for business.

Perhaps the fact that Eddie needs to hold outdoor, noisy sporting events on an otherwise peaceful lake and community, in an attempt to attract business, speaks to the caliber of food and service he offers.

Loon Lake raucous

Imagine...after a long hard week spending Sunday afternoon at home, situated along a peaceful lake in a quiet neighborhood. Imagine ice skating, nature walks with your children or simply relaxing on the sofa with a good book. Now imagine the same setting accompanied by the continuous noise of 25 or so motorcycles (without mufflers) roaring around a race course set up within a stone's throw of your front yard, while others drive back and forth in front of your home to "warm up."

The sound of these bikes cancelled any plans I had to enjoy outdoor activities on Sunday, Jan. 19, when the "Ice Races" were held on Loon Lake, sponsored by my good neighbor, Bauer's By The Bay. Forced back inside my home as a consequence of the noise, my television had to be turned up to be heard, my family needed to shout to converse and all attempts to read a book were futile.

Thank you for giving me this space to vent the frustration and anger that I, as well as other homeowners on Loon Lake, feel is an obvious lack of respect toward this quiet community by our new neighborhood, the Bauers. The noise created by this event is clearly an intrusion on our privacy; potential danger exists to our children and pets; and the debris left in its wake scatters our otherwise clean neighborhood.

Please, Mr. Bauer, this is our home, not a race track; and while we recognize your right to hold such events, the disturbance of peace to others is not at all fair. Please consider the feelings of your neighbors, the same ones who welcomed you here, and enjoy the hospitality of your pretty lakeside establishment. All this noise is steering our appetites elsewhere.

What's next?

Editor:

What's next Eddie?

What will be your next act in your attempt to attract business to your eatery?

Your motorcycle races along the shores of my home on Loon Lake on Sunday, Jan. 19, assailed my senses until I couldn't hear myself think straight!

It was probably a good day for you though—lots of people, lots of revenue (and lots of angry neighbors, too; but don't mind them. They'll get over it). And when they do, they'll get over you, too.

Power line

The cost to run the lines entirely underground would be between $18 million and $20 million. To run the lines all above ground would cost $6.3 million. The cost for a partially underground system would be about $10 million, Loffredo said.

The lines would be buried five or six feet down, he said.

The lines would enter the ground approximately one-eighth to one-fourth of a mile south of Intermediate School, run underground past Hicksgas, 200 E. Grand Ave., surface above ground north of Cedar Village and remain above ground along the Wisconsin Central Railroad tracks to the Antioch substation, Loffredo said.

The underground system would "be a dry cable," he said. "It won't have liquid coolant."

PACT opposes the power lines based on four areas of concern: safety, health, property value and aesthetics.

"The underground system takes care of three of the issues," Shoffeitt said.

The group singled out health, however, as the most important. Several residents voiced concern for the level of EMF emission, which many did not think would be reduced even with an underground system.

"The EMF issue is the most emotional. ... The EMF issue is the hardest to fight," Shoffeitt said.

Suzi Schmidt, Lake County Board Member and a resident of Lake Villa, urged residents to contact their state representatives and senators to push for a moratorium bill until more is known about EMFs.

"Let's quit tap-dancing. We are going through this because of unbridled development. We are killing our kids ... ourselves ... our animals," she said.

Representatives from Com Ed are expected to be at the Lake Villa Planning and Zoning Board at 7:30 Feb. 6.

Once Com Ed presents its final plan to the Village Board, it will seek a Certificate of Convenience and Public Necessity from the ICC.

Com Ed announced its plans to upgrade service in Antioch last summer. Residents from Lake Villa, Loon Lake and West Milmore have been upset ever since, opposing the route because it runs through populated areas and over schools.

Site preparation already has begun for the substation at Loon Lake. Eventually it will serve an area six miles in radius, Shoffeitt said.

"We need to realize that we do need the electricity. But it shouldn't be running anywhere near people," he said.

Lake Villa has drafted an ordinance that requires any new utility in the area to obtain Village Board approval before it can be located within Village limits.

That ordinance will be discussed at the Feb. 12 Village Trustee meeting.

PACT has tentatively set another meeting date for March 5, provided they can secure a large enough room. Interested citizens may call Shoffeitt at 265-0014.

PACT also is encouraging citizens to attend a meeting of state representatives and senators at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 10 in the community room of the State Bank of Antioch in Lindenhurst.

Finding bright side

If there's a bright side to the current recession, it's that the first major test to new policies and procedures in the state unemployment insurance law shows that the new program is working better than expected.

The Illinois Unemployment Insurance Trust Fund was at a healthy $1.1 billion at the end of 1991 and appears to be in good shape to weather the current economic storm. Illinois employers have been paying an additional tax into the trust fund since 1988 just to deal with unemployment pressures being felt now.

Illinois unemployment figures in recent weeks have been nudging double digits, but they're nowhere near the high of 13.2 percent reached in November, 1982. During recessions in the '70s and '80s, the state UI trust fund was busted by benefit demands and the state had to borrow from the U.S. Treasury.

In an informal survey taken by the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce, a positive outlook of a cross-section of business people was found to be the prevailing opinion. Better times are ahead, economists predict, with a modest recovery expected in the second half of 1992.

Line 15a helps nature

It's difficult to imagine a world without eagles, herons, wildflowers and cattails. For those who share that opinion, the Illinois Non-game Wildlife Conservation Fund was established to benefit species that may not be legally hunted, fished or removed from the ground or waters of the state. Included are 500 animals and plants on the Illinois endangered and threatened species lists.

The state is making it easy to contribute to that fund by providing Line 15a on the state income tax form where you can donate any amount of a $1 or more at tax time. Last year more than 30,000 taxpayers contributed more than $230,000.

One of the most noteworthy uses of contributions was to produce an educational program aimed at acquainting children with their heritage. Not a bad way to spend a buck or two.

End Alpine feuding

Lake Zurich is a village with an image problem.

The community of 15,000 with a pristine Alpine theme has long been regarded as an ideal place to live, work, play and educate your children. For decades nothing much ever happened in Lake Zurich.

Almost three years ago Mayor James Kay came to office. It was on the promise of slowing growth, giving the community that had doubled in size from 8,000 persons in 1980, a chance to catch its breath. His goal was and is a more beautiful, better Lake Zurich where the values of old are preserved alongside the new.

But something happened between that election and two years later. Several new faces were added to the village. Some were members of the Old Guard which was accused of pushing the village too fast into the 21st Century.

This left Kay with two allies and four trustees who didn't like anything the mayor suggested or did.

Since the new clique took control the village has lost five department heads; village manager, recreation director, public works director, building director and police chief. The latter departure was for health reasons. All others left on their own.

An interim administrator has been hired. It was the first unanimous vote by the village board in months. But that was for show.

The new crew has an admitted agenda of rebuilding the village hall staff its own way. The mayor isn't given any hope of having a choice or a voice.

That was all too evident last month when 60 people showed up with 680 signatures to protest the construction of a new water tower in Paulus Park. Kay wanted them to have their day. Like them, he opposed the location. But the majority bloc said no. They apparently don't care what 680 people think or want. The attitude seems to be: Let the public pay the bills, but we'll do what we want with the money.

With this public-be-damned attitude is there any hope for Lake Zurich?

Yes! First, Kay was elected by the people of Lake Zurich as their man for mayor. No one can accuse Kay of not fulfilling those responsibilities. Let him be the mayor, not the trustees, some of whom have political ambitions of their own.

As for trustees Laurence Coffey, Gerard Blum, Deborah Vasels and their leader, G. Montgomery Campbell, their job is to follow, not lead. To do this they may have to swallow some pride, lots of election bravo and learn that "My way or the highway" does not befit the Lake Zurich image.

Each of these trustees has some good ideas for Lake Zurich. So do minority trustees Gary Winchester and Karen Demos-Rosenthal. Kay certainly does.

Compromise! Set these seven people down at a table some Saturday morning and don't let them up until they agree to no longer disagree.

Must change ways campaigns funded by ROBERT J. BYRNE

(Part 2)

Total political reform must be achieved if we expect to see our elected through.

Cutting the length of the primary campaign, elimination of cross-over voting and campaign finance reform are practical ways of breaking the cycle that perpetuates "professional politicians."

There are other important changes needed to achieve true representation for the voters and fairness for all of the candidates in every primary and general election:

1. A standard budget amount would be determined by the population of the candidate's District (i.e.: $.75 per voter in that District). U.S. Census Bureau statistics would be used to determine the population of all Districts at all levels. There would be a minimum budget allowable set at $2,500 for lower level elected offices.

2. 100 percent of all money raised must come from within the District that a candidate is running in.

3. The maximum amount of money allowable to be raised in any campaign shall not exceed 100 percent of the amount of the budget determined by the District voting population.

4. Personal funds used in any campaign may not exceed 25 percent of the amount allowable for that campaign. Personal funds are defined as any donation rendered to the campaign from the candidate, the candidate's spouse, children and parents of the candidate's spouse, grandparents, aunts, uncles, great-aunts, great-uncles, first cousins, great-grandparents, or any grand-children of the candidate or spouse. The candidate may spend up to 25 percent of an allowable budget from his or her own funds, but all other relatives of the candidate or spouse can only donate in accordance with established limits, and the relatives must reside in the District of the election.

5. No borrowing for any campaign is allowable.

6. All money raised for a candidate can only be used for that candidacy with no exceptions.

7. All monies remaining in a campaign account after winning or losing an election can only be spent in the following manner:

A. The winner of a primary election, may carry over the balance of the campaign account for the general election, thereby reducing by the amount carried over that which can be raised for the general election.

B. Those losing in a primary election, and winners and losers in the general election, must spend any remaining campaign monies on any acceptable charities of the candidate's choosing within the boundaries of the particular candidacy. The money must be totally dispersed within 90 days of the election day. The reason for this is to end 'campaign war chests' from being accumulated which gives the incumbent office holders an unfair advantage.

8. Limits must be set all levels on the size of contributions. The maximum limit for any individual donation Federal level would be $1,000, at State level would be $500, and for County Office or below $250.

The maximum Political Action Committee (PAC) donation at Federal level would be $5,000, at State level would be $2,500, and for County Office or below $500. Any PAC money given must have been raised from the District of

Follow the lead of Bob Galvin in trade battle

by BILL SCHROEDER

America needs more fair-minded business leaders like Robert W. Galvin and more far-sighted companies like the firm he heads, Motorola Inc.

Galvin left a big impression on Lake County business leaders and educators in a speech before the Lake County Business Industry Education Consortium.

To their surprise, Galvin gave high marks to President Bush's trade mission to Asia. The chairman of the executive committee of Motorola, one of 21 senior executives accompanying the President, offered an evaluation of the trip that was about 180 degrees opposite the opinions of media observers and hip-shooting politicians who widely criticized the multi-nation tour as a flop.

Speaking at the Diplomat in Gurnee, Galvin described the trip as "remarkably successful." Earlier in the day at a Chicago press conference, Galvin called the trip a "pivotal point" in U.S.-Japan relations.

Who to believe? Press critics and politicians or Robert Galvin? I know where I'm putting my trust.

After the meeting, I asked Galvin if he felt press treatment of the trade mission was fair. The highly respected businessman who is putting up a plant near Libertyville that will employ 4,000 and already is making cellular telephones at Grayslake replied graciously that the press isn't always in a position to get all the facts. Then with a wink, he added, "There's an old saying: 'The truth will out.'"

As far as jobs are concerned, Galvin mentioned that talks with the Japanese resulted in commitments to purchase American automotive parts. "You'll hear the cash registers ringing very soon," is the way Galvin put it.

Motorola's record in manufacturing and its leadership in business education speaks for itself. Motorola University in Schaumburg is legendary. Motorola has been competing in world markets successfully for years and has a record of selling to Japan for two decades.

In simple terms, Motorola makes a superior product and Motorola employees know how to market their goods. Can Detroit with its greedy executives and pampered workers say the same?

Our nation ought to bank on the Bob Galvin and Motorola approach: Utilize education and stress quality to produce superior products. Take the long haul. And the truth will out.

Temperature rises at health dept.

UNHEALTHY POLITICS

As planned by the Robert Depke Wrecking Co. the Lake County Health Dept. is being slowly emasculated.

Leaving last week was Steve Moylan, assistant director of environmental health. A 13-year member of the agency, he was in charge of the lakes management program. It kept tabs on the health of the county's 170 lakes. Each year it took the pulse and pressure of three so villages and homeowners associations could nurture them back to life.

The real reason is widespread cuts in health department budgets, scaling back of lakes monitoring, pressure to ignore rules and guidelines for developers, restaurants and on septic tanks. Call it politics!

Depke, the County Board chairman, has made no secret about his dislike for the size and influence of the Health Dept.

FOXES IN HEN HOUSE

To give the Lake County Health Dept. a different direction in 1992 a new president has been elected to the governing board.

That person is none other than Martin Paulson, manager of the Parkway Restaurant in Waukegan. This eatery has had regular run-ins with the Health Dept. for failure to pass periodic inspections. In early December it received a failing 58 on an inspection where 60 is passing. Corrections have since been made.

Paulson votes on all matters ranging from restaurants and subdivisions to septic tanks and lakes testing.

So does another member, William "Bill" Mellen of Wadsworth. He designs and builds septic tanks.

Doing likewise is board Vice President Donald Manhard of Deerfield. He is a professional engineer who designs some of the subdivisions being developed around Lake County.

Not so with past president Terry Sellke of Grayslake. A dentist and developer of Daybreak Farms in his community, he abstained from voting on matters affecting builders and subdividers.

"These conflicts of interest is like the foxes guarding the henhouse," said Raymond Lacroix of Grayslake. He sat on this board until two years ago.

LINCOLN TRIBUTE

One of the biggest Lincoln Day dinners in the 44-year history of the event will be Saturday, Feb. 8, at Maravela's in Ingleside.

Chairman Gordy Kiesgen of the sponsoring Grant Twp. GOP club said the draw is the guest speaker as much as the dozens of politicians in the March primary. For them this is a must show.

Gov. Jim Edgar will make one of his frequent forays into Lake County for this occasion. All of the Illinois governors have spoken at this event over the 44 years. Ditto for all the lieutenant governors (Bob Kustra, Edgar's second banana, was the speaker two years ago.).

One year, Chicago Alderman Eddie (Fast Eddie) Vrodalak, helped fill Maravela's to its 400-seat capacity.

Why Edgar this year? Because Donna Mae Litwiler asked. The Grant Twp. GOP chairman has the governor's ear. She is the senior citizen representative for the Secretary of State's office, which Edgar headed before becoming governor. Also, Edgar will be in the neighborhood. It will be for a fund raiser the preceding night in Crystal Lake to bolster the campaign of state Sen. Jack Schaffer (R-Crystal Lake), who is running for Congress. Schaffer and Edgar are buddies.

Kiesgen has been chairing or co-chairing the Grant event for all of its years with former leader Jack Smith.

As for Lincoln, he'd be proud to be in Fox Lake on Saturday.

WHAT A PARTY!

Last Saturday's fund raiser for Dist. 18 County Board candidate Davida Terry of Prairie View was overpowering. For openers, she rented the ballroom of the Holiday Inn-Mundelein. Then, she invited Chicago radio's best known disc jockey, Dick Biondi. His fee is $2,500. Friends, neighbors and supporters dressed down to bobby socks, T-shirts and poodle skirts for this '50s and '60s dance.

Food, there was enough for the good-sized crowd. It wasn't just hors d'oeuvres.

Door prizes were the frosting on the cake; a framed, original oil painting, a two-night package for two at any Westin Inn and, the biggie, round-trip air tickets for two anywhere in the USA.

Terry is affectionately known as the "deer lady". She wants to keep the growing deer population in Ryerson Woods against the advice of experts. But deer can't vote.

WAUKEGAN—County

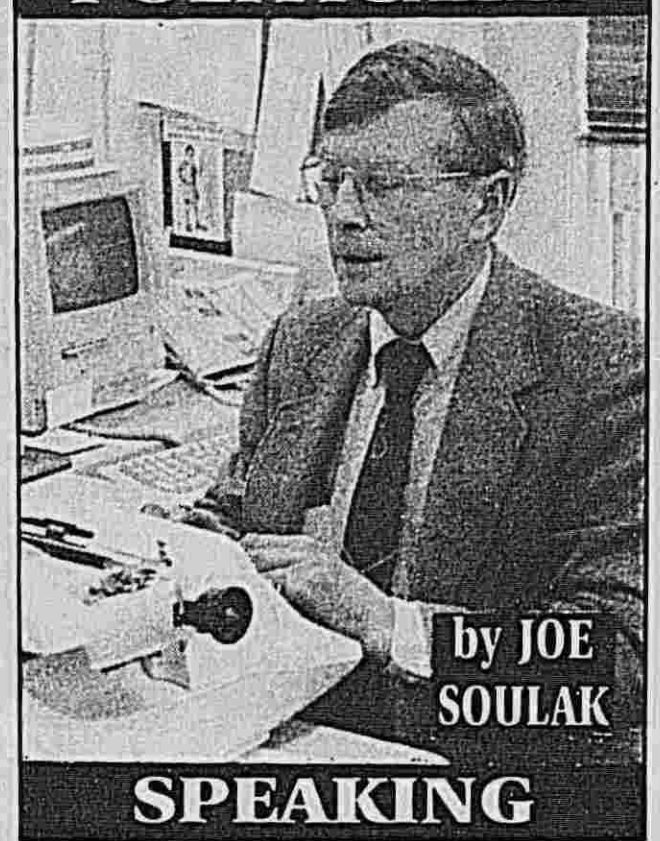

Administrator Dwight Magalis says he's not retiring. He's not even thinking about it. He might have 25 years with the county, Magalis said, but that doesn't make him eligible to pull the pin. Does that qualify him as a young old timer?

GRAYSLAKE—Raymond Lacroix of Grayslake is giving voters something to savor in his campaign for a Dist. 11 County Board seat. It is a card with attached mint that says "Your vote is worth a mint." WAUKEGAN—Dist. 2 County Board candidate Eleanor Rostron is having a Salute to Olympics on Sunday, Feb. 9, at the Bonnie Brook Golf Club. Not only does this mark the start of the 1992 Winter Olympics, but is a family affair for those who like winter sports. Rostron's daughter, now Cindy Dawson, was a member of the 1980 Winter Olympics gymnastics team. That was the year USA boycotted the event in Russia.

Letters to the Editor

Save landfills

Editor:

Spring is not far off and it is time to start thinking about saving room in our landfills so that our children and grandchildren will have someplace to put their garbage besides their back yard. The solution is composting. Composting can make use of as much as half of any communities garbage. The types of garbage that can be composted are: grass clippings, leaves, garden wastes, food scraps, disposable diapers, and most paper products. Composting and recycling together can save as much as 70 percent of our landfill. Compost may be used as a mulch, to help soils drain quicker, help nutrients cling to the soil, and stop erosion. Composting may then be sold to farmers, nurseries, parks, golf courses, etc.

We do not as yet have a large composting facility in Illinois, but nine other states do have them, with over 150 projects in development. Write Solid Waste Composting Council, 601 Pennsylvania Ave. N.W., Suite 900, Washington, D.C. 20004 or call 1-800-457-4474 for more information.

Power corrupts

Editor:

"When you wish upon a star, makes no differences who you are..." except in Lake Zurich Village Hall. Apparently, in Trustee Campbell's opinion, "average citizens" and "housewives" are inferior to the superior status of village trustees, especially if you dare to disagree.

Unfortunately, his personal appraisal is not limited to the board room. Staff morale has become non-existent for fear of disagreeing and risking public execution (i.e., being replaced, however worded). Open government has become controlled government through gag orders and executive sessions. Promises to develop a strong park and recreation department has translated into placing a water storage tower in our most heavily used park (attendance up 8,000 in 1991 over 1990 to 22,000+). Advisory boards have been relegated to either not being requested advice or ignoring advice that fails to meet compartmentalized, predetermined decisions. Residents (i.e., average housewives) wishing to speak in committee meetings are either ignored (not recognized), threatened with removal and/or worse, are offered condescending and patronizing, insincere answers.

"In the interest of economy", I will stop here and can only reflect on the truth—absolute power corrupts absolutely.

Emphasize vocations

Editor:

I attended an open house at the Lake County Area Vocational Center in Grayslake. I was impressed by its equipment and the variety of courses offered. Unfortunately this school is not as well known as it should be.

A number of high school students do not have the interest nor the academic ability to benefit from a college education. However, there are many necessary and well-paying occupations that do not require a college degree but do require technical training. Lake County Area Vocational Center offers training in health care, building trades, auto mechanics, computer use and many others.

These careers are necessary for society to work. People pursuing them deserve the same respect as those pursuing college careers.

Reform

the candidacy in question.

No corporation contributions allowable at any level.

9. Any known and approved campaign expense that is separately approved will be a part of the total budget of a campaign.

10. Paying for signature taking for any campaign is not allowable.

11. No public financing of any election, and the Reason: Public Financing of an election is to force a voter to finance a candidate which the voter may find totally unacceptable. This is certainly a violation of one's rights and is Unconstitutional.

Other aspects of political reform that must be acted on in order to achieve complete reform are:

1. Not elected official at any level may hold a full time or part time government job at any level including teaching at public institutions, with the single exception of military reservists.

2. Elected officials may hold only one elected position at any given time.

3. Elected officials can only vote themselves a cost of living pay increase. If more pay is desired, the question must be put up to public referendum in the area in question.

4. Term limitation at each level of government for all offices. This would create far more competition for the higher elected offices.

5. Add "No candidate of my choice" at the end of the list of candidates for every office to be decided in the voting booth. And if the most votes for any office are cast in this category, then the two Political Parties placing second and third for that office have 30 days to put up another candidate, after which there would be another election. The sitting elected official in the office in question would remain holding that office until the new election is completed. When this process is used in a Primary Election, and 'No Candidate of My Choice' receives the most votes then that Political Party would not have a candidate for that specific office in the General Election. This concept would surely have all of our elected officials more responsive to those that elected them.

Comprehensive legislation must now be enacted at all levels in order to achieve real political and election reform. A failure in this area will simply give us more of what we presently have.

And the last and most important point of any Political and Election Reform requires that:

1. Every citizen be a constructive participant in the whole political process.

40 area restaurants join 'Heart Smart' program

Americans are becoming more discerning when it comes to making menu choices at local restaurants. Statistics from the National Restaurant Assn. show that the number of consumers who make nutritious selections when dining out is on the increase. One of the ways Americans are making healthier selections is in choosing foods that are lower in fat and cholesterol.

February is American Heart Month and Victory Memorial Hospital in Waukegan, Cub Goods in Round Lake and Mundelein, Welton's County Market in Gurnee, and the Lake County Division of the American Heart Assoc. of Metropolitan Chicago are coordinating the Third Annual Victory of Eating Heart Smart with area restaurants.

Participating restaurants will offer meals slated as "heart smart" throughout the month of February. Any customer who orders a heart smart meal is invited to complete an entry form for a chance to win one of five prizes worth $150 or more in heart smart groceries provided by Welton's County Market and Cub Foods.

Eating healthy while dining out is easy, if you know how. Dietitians at Victory Memorial Hospital suggest you ask for margarine rather than butter; skim rather than whole milk; steamed vegetables rather than sauteed; broiled, baked, steamed or poached meat, fish, or poultry rather than sauteed or deep fried.

Other tips are to ask for foods to be prepared without additional salt or monosodium glutamate (MSG), trim all visible fat off your meat and the skin off of poultry, limit your portion size to 4 to 6 ounces of cooked meat, fish or poultry, and leave all butter, gravy or sauce of your entree and side dishes.

Students from area grade schools will be learning about heart healthy choices by attending a hands-on nutritional seminar provided by the hospital's Dietary Department and Welton's County Market. While at the seminar, students will prepare Heart Smart Pizza.

In addition, the hospital has added a free community education series entitled, "Healthy Hearts". Each week during February, a separate topic will be presented at free seminar.

"Heart Healthy Families" on Feb. 13, "Shopping for the Heart" on Feb. 19, and "Taking Care of Your Heart" on Feb. 26. Registration is requested for these seminars, which are being held at various locations throughout the county. To register for the programs of interest to you, call (708)360-4148.

The Victory of Eating Heart Smart runs through 29. For questions on the contest or a complete list of participating restaurants, call (708) 360-4246.

For further information on how to adapt healthy eating habits, contact your physician, Victory Memorial Hospital at (708)360-4246, or the American Heart Assoc.

Participating restaurants include:

1 Potato 2, Hawthorne Center, Vernon Hills; 1 Potato 2, Northbrook Court, Northbrook; Agean Isles, Highland Park; Arlington in Waukegan, Waukegan; Aussie's Restaurant, Highwood; The Avalon, Gurnee; Avanti's Mundelein; Barney's on the Lake; Antioch, Bob Chinn's Crab House, Wheeling; Buckley's Restaurant, Libertyville; Buffalo Bar and Grill, Libertyville; Christophers, Waukegan; County Market Deli, Welton's, Gurnee; Country Squire, Grayslake; Deerpath Inn, Lake Forest; DiMarco's Antioch; Diplomat North, Gurnee; The Frontier, Gurnee;

Here are some samples of Jean Szewczyk's Native American artwork.

She's goin' native

Jean Szewczyk has the look: reddish-brown skin, dark eyes and long, straight black hair.

She looks like an Indian.

"Native American," she chided. "Indian is not correct."

Nevertheless, how did a woman born to Slavic parents in Germany come to look like Sitting Bull's daughter?

While there may be some ambiguity surrounding her heritage, there's no mistaking Jean's ability to create exquisite pottery using centuries-old techniques.

Jean's work is so good, in fact, she's one of a select group of artists invited to display work at the annual Washington (D.C.) Craft Show April 21-26. The show, which is sponsored by the Smithsonian Institute Women's Committee, will feature just 100 artists chosen from among the thousands who applied nationwide.

Despite waiting until just four days before the deadline and not sending slides of her best work, Jean was tabbed for the honor.

"It's the first time I applied," she said. "I applied for this thing as a joke. I thought there's no way I'll get accepted for this."

But accepted she was, and she'll take around $25,000 worth of Southwestern Native American-style pottery to the exhibition.

Jean started studying pottery-making under Tony Holmes at the College of Lake County in 1985. After a couple of years, she started her own studio — including a kiln (or baking oven) — in her home.

"I started with basic, traditionally shaped pottery like you find in New Mexico and Arizona," she said. "But as an artist, you're always challenged to do something difficult."

Jean makes the majority of her pieces the old-fashioned way. Although she has a wheel, she prefers to build the pieces using the coiling method.

The first step is to use another object — like a metal bowl — as a mold for the base. The rest of the piece is painstakingly constructed upward with coils of clay. The piece is then scraped and pounded smooth. When it's in a somewhat dry state, the piece is polished with a stone. After the work is decorated, it goes into the kiln for six or seven hours.

Low-fire white talc clay is her primary medium. In a variation of the above process, Jean fires the piece in burning sawdust, giving it a polished, black stone-like appearance.

The complete process takes about 10 days, although Jean has three or four pieces in different stages at any given time.

"I've disciplined myself to put in eight or more hours a day in order to have enough inventory," Jean said.

Her talent and labor don't come cheaply.

by GREG MILLER

Large pieces start in the $150-200 range. Smaller pieces can be had for under $100, including extra-large coffee cups for just $12.

Jean's received numerous awards for her pottery, which is in demand at shows and galleries throughout Chicagoland. Locally, her work can be seen at the David Adler Cultural Center in Libertyville, the Deerpath Gallery in Lake Forest and Sundance Designs in Barrington.

She also makes jewelry, does beadwork and creates Native American artifacts from buckskin. She makes ceremonial masks complete with feathers, and her pottery offering includes the same kind of seed pots formerly used by Native Americans at planting time.

So, why the great preoccupation with Native American art from a woman born of Ukrainian parents in Hannover, Germany?

Jean's father, Mykola Benyk, served in the Soviet Army during World War II and became one of the millions of displaced people after the fighting was over. He met Jean's mother, Maria, in a refugee camp in Germany.

Both Benyk and Maria had come from the Ukraine. Maria's father — Jean's grandfather — had died when Maria was only 3 years old. Although Maria knew little of her father, those who had known him said he came from another land, had dark skin and spoke a different language.

Jean believes her grandfather may have been a Native American, and thus, she inherited her looks and penchant for Native American ways.

"I can only go on my instincts," she said. "In my heart I believe. My mother will argue and say, 'You're nuts, child.'"

Jean and her parents came to the U.S. when she was 4 years old. She grew up in Chicago and married Stan Szewczyk.

In 1985, the Szewczyks moved to Gurnee.

"We took the opportunity to leave Chicago," she said. "I'm just not a city person."

Then, they moved to Spring Grove, but even the wide-open spaces of eastern McHenry County are beginning to close in.

"I just don't know where to go anymore — maybe back to the reservation," she joked.

It was no joke when Stan and Jean rented a trailer, loaded it with clothes and food and delivered the big care package to Pine Ridge (S.D.) Reservation in December. Pine Ridge was used for the filming of "Dances With Wolves."

"It was just wonderful out there — it's magical out there," Jean said. "It looks like it hasn't been touched by man since the beginning of time."

"The people are very poor. It's sad to see that the arrival of food is the highlight of their week or month. Instead of having the government send funds all over the world, I think we should take care of our own first."

Setting the example, Jean is actively involved in the Powwow Committee, which organizes fund raisers to benefit the Native American Church. The committee holds several powwows every year, including the one slated for the Lake County Fairgrounds this May.

"You reach a certain point where you say, 'I can't wait for someone else to do it,'" Jean said of work for the powwow group.

But there's more to her involvement than extending a financial helping hand. In addition to her art and maintaining a home for her husband and their two daughters — Tania, 9, and Alana, 11, — Jean is immersing herself in the culture.

"I'm learning the traditional ways. I like that culture better than the white culture." (Continued on page 23)

Moisten edge on half of each circle with water. Fold dough over preserves. Press edges with fork to seal. Place 1 inch apart on ungreased cookie sheet.

Makes about 2 1/2 dozen cookies.

Orange glaze

- 1 cup powdered sugar
- 1 tsp. finely grated orange peel
- 2 Tbl. orange juice

Mix all ingredients until smooth and spreading consistency.

Mock pink champagne

This champagne is bubbly and tangy, but doesn't contain alcohol. It's part of a growing number of party punches called "mocktails" that are designed to delight all ages.

- 1 cup water
- 1/4 cup grenadine syrup
- 1 cup grapefruit
- 1/2 cup orange juice
- 3 1/2 cups ginger ale, chilled

Combine water, grapefruit and orange juice and grenadine; stir well, and chill. Stir in ginger ale just before serving. Serve beverage over crushed ice.

Makes 6 1/4 cups.

Adult banana split

Wonderful and special made with Grand Marnier. Bananas are sliced and simmered in fruit juices and liqueurs. Serve over ice cream.

- 1 cup butter
- 1 cup plus 2 Tbls. firmly packed brown sugar
- 4 medium bananas, peeled and sliced
- 1/4 orange juice, strained
- 3 Tbl. fresh lemon juice, strained
- 2 Tbl. Grand Marnier
- 1 Tbl. banana-flavored liqueur
- vanilla ice cream
- unsweetened whipped cream
- Macadamia nuts, chopped and toasted

Melt butter in a medium saucepan; add brown sugar, and stir until smooth. Stir in bananas; coat well. Add juices and liqueurs; simmer 2 minutes. Serve immediately over ice cream. Top with whipped cream and nuts.

Makes 8 servings.

Sour cream Italian dressing

Easy preparation and natural flavors make this homemade dressing an easy way to set off the simplest green salad.

- 1/2 cup mayonnaise
- 1/2 cup sour cream
- 2 Tbl. milk
- 1 Tbl. vinegar
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1/2 tsp. dried whole oregano
- 1/2 tsp. dried whole basil
- 1/2 tsp. honey
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1/8 tsp. pepper

Combine all ingredients in a small bowl, stirring well with a wire whisk. Cover and chill at least two hours before serving.

Makes one cup.

Valentine present bag

These plump, fat Valentine bags are ideal as a container for a special present, a bag loaded with candies and sweets, a colorful centerpiece, a carrier for school valentines or used as party favors made from smaller brown paper bags.

Simple to make: Start with a brown paper lunch bag. Fold the top half of the bag inside itself. With staples, attach one piece of tissue paper, "pleated-form," to the outside of each side of the bag.

Fill the brown paper bag bottom with goodies, then gather tissue paper at the top and tie with a bright ribbon. Embellish with cut-out colored paper hearts, glued to the tissue paper. I also glued some hearts to florists' wire, adding height and interest to the bag.

This idea can be used for a children's party decorated with balloons, St. Pat's Day with green shamrocks, Fourth of July, Halloween or Christmas. Use your imagination and try it.

Onion-cheese French bread

Try this recipe for a few or a crowd. Spread topping on bread ahead of time, wrap tightly and refrigerate. Unwrap and broil bread just before serving time.

- 1/4 cup butter, softened
- 3/4 cup (3 oz.) shredded Cheddar cheese
- 1/2 cup mayonnaise
- 1/4 cup chopped green onions
- 1 (16 oz.) loaf French bread

Combine first 4 ingredients; mix well. Slice bread in half lengthwise. Spread cheese mixture on bread. Broil six inches from heat 2 minutes or until bubbly. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Spinach roll-ups

Delicious way to serve lasagna noodles, stuffed with spinach-cheese mixture, rolled up end to end and served standing "up." Use the sauce recipe or your own or a favorite purchased one.

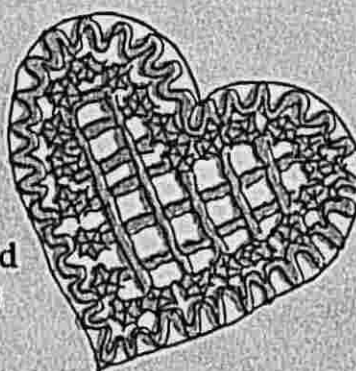

- 8 lasagna noodles, cooked according to directions
- 1 10 oz. package, frozen spinach, thawed and squeezed dry
- 1 cup cottage cheese
- 2 Tbl. Parmesan cheese
- 3/4 tsp. nutmeg
- 1/2 tsp. grated orange zest (rind)
- 1/4 tsp. pepper

While lasagna noodles cook, mix together remaining ingredients for filling. Spread two to three tablespoons on each cooked noodle, and roll up end to end. Stand up in a two-quart casserole, or an eight-inch square pan.

Sauce:

- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 3 Tbl. olive oil
- 1/2 tsp. basil, crumbled
- 2 cups tomato sauce

Saute garlic and onion in olive oil until soft. Add basil and tomato sauce. Pour over lasagna noodles and bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes. Serves 6 to 8.

Southwest Louisiana's File

Escape to the sounds of the bayou with Southwest Louisiana's File playing Friday night at Shades. File (Fee-lay) is known as one of the best Cajun dance bands in its home state with a repertoire that includes waltzes, two-steps, stomps, jigs, Zydeco, Cajun blues, swamp pop, R & B, and rock and roll.

If you've never experienced the bayou beat, now's the time. The accordion starts playing; your feet start stompin'. Before you know it you're transported to a warm, moist place with lush green scenery, and a little bit of mystery. Cajun music is the potion a Midwesterner needs to wake up those winter bones.

Peggy Stauffer will open for File at 9 p.m. There's a $7 cover. Shades is located at 21860 Milwaukee Rd., Deerfield. Call 634-BLUE.

Concert depicts American History in song

Combining the entertainment of dance, music and stories, Paul and Win Grace and Family will bring significant events in American history to life as part of the David Adler Cultural Center's Children's Program Series.

Music on the accordion, fiddle, guitar and autoharp will provide accompaniment to the vocals of songs dating back to the early 1800s. The Win's daughters, Leela and Eleanor, will perform fast-paced clogging routines. The Win's performances will help kids visualize stories about the ancestors who built our nation.

The Win's have been touring the the country for over 15 years. Leela and Eleanor became official members of the band five years ago, adding traditional percussion with spoons, bones and limberjack. The pair also chimes in on vocals. Leela appears on the banjo and Ellie strums the mandolin as well.

The program reflects the way our ancestors listened to music. Everyone played an instrument, sang, clapped along or danced. Throughout the program, the audience will join in by singing along on choruses, clapping or snapping their fingers and learning to play the spoons and limberjack.

The Adler Center's children's program series strives to offer families highly entertaining and educational programs as an opportunity to share a wondrous view of the world and themselves.

The concert will be held Sunday, Feb. 9, beginning at 2 p.m. at the Libertyville High School Studio Theatre, 708 W. Park Avenue (Rte. 176), Libertyville.

Advanced tickets to the concerts are $4 for adults, $3 for seniors and Center members, $2 for children 4-15 and free for children 3 and under. Tickets are available through the David Adler Cultural Center. Tickets will be sold at the door, if seats are available. Door prices are $1 higher.

The Children's Program Series is made possible through the support of Harris Bank Libertyville and through a grant from the Illinois Arts Council, a state agency.—by RHONDA VINZANT

Euro-Disney Opens April 12

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT
NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

Why travel all the way to Paris just to see Mickey and his gang, since he's got a place a little south of here in Florida?

That was my first reaction to the concept of Euro-Disney.

Well, it comes as no surprise that the Disney people again know what they are doing.

Euro-Disney will attract a fair amount of the European community, but Euro-Disney is really targeted to the American tourist. More precisely, the first time to Europe, American tourist.

Many Americans would love to experience the romance of old Europe, but are a little uncertain about European hotels, language problems, and just plain culture shock.

Enter Euro-Disney Resorts.

In the tradition of Disney World in Orlando, Euro-Disney Resorts offer accommodations from luxury to budget, with the comforts expected by the American traveler. All rooms are sized to meet American and Disney standards, comfortably accommodating a family of four. No language problems here. That American Mouse and all his friends converse in English.

Just outside of this piece of America in Europe is Paris, the City of Lights with its cobblestone streets and architectural grandeur. The Eiffel Tower, Arc de Triomphe, Notre-Dame, the Louvre, are all just a short train ride away.

In fact, anywhere in Europe isn't very far since Euro-Disney is linked by rail to Paris and then to the rest of Europe by the Eurail system. If you would rather see Europe by car, Euro-Disney is right on Europe's A4 Autoroute.

Another incentive to visit Mickey's house in France rather than his place in Orlando is airfares to Florida are on the rise, but the cost of an air ticket to Paris is the lowest I've seen in about five years.

Stay tuned to this column for a first hand critique since I'll probably pop over to Euro-Disney myself around May.

Avoid Lines

Street Scenes Shows run continuously all evening, with the last shows starting at 1:00 a.m. Each performance lasts about 25 minutes. If a particular room is full, catch another and return later. Don't stand in lines—move on to a room with immediate seating. Ask the information people where seating is available. Their locations are marked with an "I" on the map.

Brownies, cream puffs, eclairs and ice cream all without calories.

Corned beef sandwiches, brats, hot dogs, buffalo wings, sloppy joes, beef sandwiches and taste-tempting home-made pizza all without cholesterol.

After eight hours of night club hopping, a pancake breakfast with sausages might hit the spot. It's all there for the asking at Carmel High School's eighteenth annual Street Scenes fundraiser Feb. 7 and 8.

Doors open at 6:30 p.m. Admission is $12.50 per person. The event is restricted to ages 21 and older because liquor is served. On-campus parking is limited, but plenty of off-site parking is available with free shuttle buses running throughout the evening.

The event, which usually attracts more than 3,000 people per night, features original skits and cabaret entertainment performed by professionals as well as amateurs. Each act this year stretches the truth a bit as Street Scenes salutes television with 12 different 25 minute shows.

Vaudeville, night club acts and comedy routines are set for 12 lounges. Seven eateries will offer delectables; and for gamblers, games of chance will be provided on the carnival midway.

In traditional Street Scenes fashion, shows are goofy, corny and fun-filled, peppered with song, sarcasm and wit. The Kirk Players, a professional troupe, has created "This Spud's for You!" Touted as a half-baked view of TV through the eyes of an American couch potato, it features Richard Slimmons, the pistol packing Corleones and the Blonde family.

Down another street is the alumni presentation of "3 Men and a Remote Control," which includes take-offs from the Bob Hope Show as well as Twilight Zone. The Mundelein-based theater group Stage Fright has written "Spaced Out TV," which spoofs and reviews old television series. The Grayslake Parents Club is bringing back Ed Sullivan in "The Really Big Shoe."

The line-up also includes a recreation of "The Mickey Mouse Club" by the Once A Year Players; "Flippin' Thru The Channels" with scenes from your favorite televangelist, the Honeymooners and commercials from the past performed in the Libertyville Show. The Waukegan Troupe will go back to Mayberry, R.F.D. for a visit with Aunt Bea, Opie, Barney, Andy and the rest of the clan. In the only skit by young adults, Carmel students will perform "A Curly, Hurlly, Burly Revue."

Music from jazz to rock, barber shop and country to pop will fill the air in "Where the Action Is," "Happy Days," "Hill Street Blues Alley," "American's Hit Parade," "Aunt Bea's Kitchen," "The Beverly Hillbillies," "Candid Camera," "Name That Tune," and "The Billionaire."

The St. Gilbert singers from Grayslake have put together a toe-tapping show entitled "Laverne and Shirley and the Angora Debs Revue. Music, dancing and a guest performance by Arranmore Saturday night at "American Bandstand" has been arranged; the Smile Band plans to stir the "Carmel Rock Cafe." A visit to "Duffy's Irish Pub" offers sounds from the 'auld sod.'

Tickets are available at the door or by calling 566-3000 or 855-0313. Carmel High School is located on Route 176 on Mundelein's east side. Checks and credit cards accepted.— by DEBRA A. SCHWARTZ

Wheel World

Beatty beautiful in 'Bugsy'

You've probably heard that Warren Beatty's newest vehicle, "Bugsy" has already embarked on 1991's award road after winning "Best Picture" at the Golden Globes.

An apt description of Mr. Beatty in this one soon has one hissing, not in deprecation, but praise-smooth-slick-suave-and just plain "superfying!" all come to mind.

Most of these adjectives can be applied with equal enthusiasm to director Barry Levinson's superlative film effort itself.

This loosely done story of the 1940s mobster, who was actually the founder of today's Las Vegas, depicts the Jewish gangster element, of which Siegel was a head honcho.

Beatty's version of this silky sleaze is not the least bit sleazy, in fact one finds themselves admiring the classy demeanor and the dreams of this infamous, Hollywood loving, con-man and cold blooded killer.

When he meets the mob's version of justice at the wrong end of some flying bullets, as one expects because of the real-life headlines of by-gone days, one actually feels slightly sad, especially when an ironic kicker at the end explains that the million dollar dream that got Bugsy exterminated is worth billions today.

It seems Bugsy overspends his welcome with the big bad boys when he goes way over budget in building the seed of today's gambling mecca, the Flamingo hotel and casino out in the '40's "middle of nowhere" Nevada desert.

To make things worse, he allows his infatuation with a leggy, two-bit starlet, played by Bening, to cloud his vision and she slips lots of the mob's greenbacks into her own private bank account.

Despite the fact that Bening and Beatty are lovers off the set, there is a lot of on-set chemistry missing between the two, mainly because Bening comes across as a frigid Brigitte in this one.

Joe Mantegna, who seems to get all the good supporting gangster roles lately, carries this one off with a performance any mobster worth his weight in bullets would be glad to claim as his own.

Anette Bening and Warren Beatty

The cinematography and costume designs sparkle as the film flies by. We're giving this, one of the year's best, a 4.75 stars out of a possible five --- we feel obligated to subtract the .25 from an otherwise perfect score because of that chemical spill. —by GLORIA DAVIS

Jean said she feels "drawn to the Lakota," Native Americans who are part of the Sioux Nation. Her Native American name is Dancing Spirit.

To feel closer to what she believes is her heritage, Jean has even turned a portion of their property into authentic prairie land.

Lakota language classes at the Native American College in Chicago are next up for Jean. Additionally, she's been asked to teach pottery-making to members of the American Indian Business Association in Chicago and to students at Richmond's Memorial Hall.

Jean said her art is a good way to generate awareness.

"I think you can reach people through art. Even if they don't buy a piece, they may be mesmerized by it. Maybe in some small way, it raises their consciousness about what's happening in the world."

According to Native American lore and other prophecies, Jean said, "We're in the seventh generation. Either we do something now or..."

And, according to legend, "There will be certain people who will come and try to stop the destruction of the world," she added.

Anyone interested in learning more about Jean's artwork or Native American culture, can reach her at (815) 675-6610.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You do much thinking this week about a new beginning. Don't make this heavier than it is, dear Ram. You put on your dancing shoes just in time for the weekend. You, your personality (and your dancing shoes) are on display all weekend long. Don't hesitate; go for it.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Wish fulfillment becomes a reality rather than a possibility this week. But, just like a little kid, you want to gloat over your most recent acquisition, success, or ... You are not to be found this weekend because you are so happy with ...

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You actually put into reality what you have been dreaming of. Reactions (yours and the world's) may be rather strong to all of this. Nevertheless, you are ready, willing, and rearing to go as the weekend begins. You will know what it means to wish upon a star, Gemini.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Much of this week is spent looking at other points of view, assessing possibilities and then making a decision. You travel unknown realms as the week comes to a close, and because of your willingness to risk and pull in close, you may get a close glimpse of never-never land.

LEO (July 23-August 22) Go for the unknown and be more into another and what could happen. You may get an unbelievable opportunity. Don't risk and turn this one down ... or do risk and walk through a new door. Romance, mystery and a deeper connection are all part of the scenario.

VIRGO (August 23-September 22) Your efficiency is tested this week, Virgo. Take another glimpse at a relationship or a potential relationship on the horizon. It is your choice if this is a soaring or falling star. You will be much happier this weekend if you go with the scenario of a rising star.

LIBRA (September 23-October 22) Don't take a loved one for granted who was gracious enough to forgive and forget. Know which side your bread is buttered and stay aware. Recognize you cannot keep all options open all the time. Listen to this person and demonstrate your caring — if you are to be a happy camper.

SCORPIO (October 23-November 21) Clear out a family problem once and for all. You know what you can and cannot take. Once freed, even 'serious you' are able to soar like a butterfly and enjoy yourself. Let those creative juices flow as the weekend begins. Do what is good for you.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22-December 21) Fantasize, play and talk, but really think twice before turning this idea into reality. A loved one or a child gives you important and significant feedback. Know what is; know what is real. Nevertheless, count on this weekend spent in the clouds.

CAPRICORN (December 22-January 19) Sensible and careful to a fault, you proceed very much in this manner this week. You may simply be unwilling right now to take any more risks, to reveal any more, or to make yourself vulnerable. You pay the consequences of this stance this weekend. Reconsider while you still can.

AQUARIUS (January 20-February 18) You are moving mountains right now, Aquarius, and you feel very creative. Do less crowing about who you are and how great you are. Be willing to be a little humble. If patient, you get your just desserts (and treats) this weekend. You just love what goes on.

PISCES (February 19-March 20) A flagrant attitude midweek may not help you. Make up your mind for now to stay mum. Also, be aware that all your opinions could change at any given moment in the next few weeks. You roll into the weekend a little insecure but for now, all the better. Do some soul searching, Pisces.

Major Crime Task Force organization introduced

by ELLEN RUTLIN
Lakeland Newspapers

A county-wide SWAT team is in place to back up investigations by smaller municipal police departments.

The Lake County Major Crime Task Force presented the program at a press conference on Jan. 30 as an organization of "highly trained and carefully selected law enforcement officers and support personnel contributed from the Illinois State Police, the Lake County Sheriff's Police Department, the Lake County State's Attorney's office and the Lake County member departments who have signed the Inter Governmental Task Force Agreement."

The unit became operational Feb. 1 after 18 months of work by police chiefs and law enforcement officials according to Willie Smith, chairman of the board of directors of the Lake County Major Crime Task Force.

"(The unit) is to assist departments that don't have the manpower to investigate major crimes," Smith said.

The unit developed after police had positive results from temporarily joining with other law enforcement groups to solve major crimes.

Officials believed implementing a permanent task force would alleviate problems of organizing supports after a crime is committed.

The Lake County Major Crime Task Force will respond immediately to any member agency upon the request of the chief of police or his designee when resources are needed.

The Task Force will provide services to investigate and manage serious crimes including homicide, non-parental kidnappings, police-involved shooting incidents and other exceptionally heinous offenses.

Once the Task Force responds to a request it assumes responsibility to handle all aspects of the investigation.

The unit is comprised of a commander, Gary Del Re, Buffalo Grove Police Department; Asst. Commander of Operations, Chuck Fagan, Lake County Sheriff's Police; Asst. Commander of Support, Mike Maley, Illinois State Police; and a representative from the Lake County State's Attorney's Office, Jeff Pavletic.

In addition, the unit consists of senior officers having at least 14 years experience in law enforcement including two public information officers, two crime analysts, a juvenile officer, investigators and evidence technicians.

A statement released from the Major Crime Task Force indicates "the police service has labored, sometimes efficiently, but often less so, to reduce serious crime and to serve its communities.

"Accustomed to operating alone, the police have come to discover that they share a common interest and an interdependence with other police agencies. This belief served as the foundation for the Lake County Major Crime Task Force. On an individual basis, each member of the Task Force has been selected based on proven ability, which includes a high level of energy, endurance and initiative.

"Since 1977, over 230 homicides have been committed in Lake County with 38 remaining unsolved. Most police departments lack the manpower and expertise to fully investigate this heinous crime. The innovative concept of the Lake County Major Crime Task Force allows the combination of the best from all departments for the benefit of all departments."

Buckle Up winner

Lake County Sheriff Clinton Grinnell represented by Chief of Operations Kurt Proschwitz presented a $250 check to Scott Corrigan of Spring Grove on behalf of the Illinois Coalition for Safety Belt Use. Scott was one of six winners in the state. He received a lottery ticket after he was observed by a Sheriff's Patrol Deputy wearing his seat belt.

Supporters rally for doctor to keep Medicaid patients

by STACEY A. SABADASH
Lakeland Newspapers

About 100 people, including a Chicago alderman, showed up for a protest march in support of Dr. John Bellucci Jr., who risks losing the ability to serve Medicaid patients.

Holding signs and chanting "Keep the doctor in" and "Support Dr. Bellucci," the supporters marched for about an hour Monday afternoon in front of the Illinois Public Aid building in Waukegan.

Motorists honked their automobile horns in support as they drove past the demonstrators, who held signs that read "The system is sick. We need the doctor" and "Illinois is ill without Dr. Bellucci."

Bellucci, an Antioch resident with offices in Waukegan, Wauconda and Richmond Heights, last week received from Illinois Public Aid a notice of intent to terminate him from the Medicaid program.

Dean Schott from the Illinois Public Aid office of public information said the notice is based on charges that Bellucci "provided goods or services which were of grossly inferior quality and which place the recipient at risk of harm."

The recommendation for termination is the result of a medical review committee's findings of Bellucci's practice in December 1991.

Supporters, however, describe Bellucci as providing "quality health care for middle and low income families."

Bellucci, who faced similar problems six years ago, also appeared at the rally, saying that he thought the support was great.

"There should be more doctors involved with the poor," he said. "I can afford to. I really can't, but I do what I can."

Bellucci, a general practitioner, said he sees up to 50 to 100 people a day, two-thirds of which are "welfare people."

"Most are willing to pay something. I've been paid in cakes," he said.

Schott said Bellucci has the right to a public hearing at which he may hear the allegations and provide evidence in his defense. Bellucci must respond by Feb. 18.

Bellucci said he is trying to avoid a hearing. "It doesn't bother me. I have my defenses set up. I just don't think it is fair," he said.

As to the quality of his care, Bellucci said, "Maybe the quality of my care has gone down with the multitude of patients. I just don't have enough help." He added that within the next six months some of his family members would be helping him.

If there is a hearing, Eddie Washington, one of the rally coordinators, as well as one of Bellucci's patients, said he hopes it is in Waukegan where other supporters will have access to it.

"He's had some small infractions, but that does not outweigh the need for health care. Where are they going to go?" Washington asked.

His concerns were echoed by Chicago Alderman Bette Thomas. "These people don't have health care. These people are in need. Why do they want to cut this out? These people don't have jobs or insurance. That is why I am taking up the fight with these people. We need the doctor," she said.

Thomas is not one of Bellucci's patients, but she said she has family and friends who are.

Also on hand at the rally was Augustina B. Carrera, a registered nurse at St. Therese Medical Center. "I've known him professionally and personally. I've seen what he does. If he doesn't know something, he finds someone who does. To help people, that is all he wants to do," she said.

Carmel names state scholars

Although program participation is voluntary, near all high schools participate and Illinois' top students elect to have test scores and high school class ranks sent to ISAC for consideration in this popular program. About 10 percent of Illinois' high school seniors are designated State Scholars and receive a Certificate of Achievement.

Dealer building reputation on guaranteed quality

Elite Motor Works in Mundelein offers low-mileage, late-model used cars. Owner Mark Wulbert is building the business based on his philosophies for dealing with customers and products.

by RHONDA VINZANT
Lakeland Newspapers

Mark Wulbert was born in the car business. After 43 years of doing it other people's way, he's building his own business based on his philosophies for dealing with customers and products.

In July 1991, Wulbert opened Elite Motor Works, a lot for low-mileage, late model used cars at 2449 S. Route 83, just south of the corner of Rte. 83 and Rte. 45 in Mundelein.

"I wanted a place where I could sell good late model used cars," the tall graying owner clad in jeans said. "I wanted to run a business the way that I think it should be done and that means taking care of my customers and building a reputation as a good businessman."

Wulbert boasts an inventory of more than $500,000 in used cars. He only sells suburban, pre-driven cars and features cars that are either still backed by a factory warranty or by Wulbert himself.

Wulbert was born into the car business. His father was a dealer. He got started in college as a part-time salesman and found that he had a gift for it. He built a local Lincoln-Mercury dealership to the largest in the country before giving it up and going out on his own. His brothers remain in the dealership business owning lots in Cook County. With years of experience and countless contacts under his belt, Wulbert knows where to find good, quality used cars and how to run a business. "I want to be known as someone who puts my customers first," he commented. "That's the right way to do business."

The owner contacts local car dealerships for trade-ins and then purchases them to re-sale. Once he brings a car on the lot, it is thoroughly checked-out by his mechanics, given an oil-change and tune-up and a fair market price for resale.

"The advantage to buying a late model used car is that you can get the same type of car that is currently popular for a fraction of the cost," said Manager Jim Tuttle. Since the business only deals with lower-mileage cars, many of them still have the factory warranties and that goes with the car. There is also a firm commitment to stand behind the products sold. "I want my customers to keep coming back and I want them to be satisfied with the purchase they make," Wulbert continued.

The dealership offers no on-site financing because Wulbert dislikes dealing with that type of business. They are affiliated with First Midwestern Bank and use the institution to secure loans for customers if they desire. "We're generally dealing with middle to upper-income people who are looking for a top-notch used car," said Tuttle. "They want it to look like new and ours do."

The lot carries cars, trucks, mini-vans and sports cars. Wulbert prefers to carry imports and says if he doesn't have the type or model of a used car you're looking for, he'll locate it. He'll also help to find a vehicle similar to yours, if you're looking to replace it because of an accident.

The one-thing Wulbert won't do is sell junkers. "If I buy a car and find out that it's not retailable, I'll wholesale it," he said. "I don't want to be in the business of selling something that's worth $19.95."

Manager Tuttle left his position of eight years selling cars on Milwaukee's avenue's mile of cars to join Wulbert in the business. "I've worn three-piece Italian suits and I don't want to do it anymore," he said dressed in a green sweatshirt and jeans. "This is a smaller, more personable place where you deal with the owner. It's very relaxed. I believe you get better treatment in a smaller place. It's kind of like hanging around the barber shop. We want to make it easy for people to buy a car."

New SWALCO director favors county recycling

by DEBRA A. SCHWARTZ
Lakeland Newspapers

Ask Donald Findell what time is tea time and he's likely to say it's first thing in the morning.

For Findell, tee time marks the beginning of the precious minutes or sometimes luxurious hours he spends perfecting his par. Simply, it's a priority.

After all, it's the way the Solid Waste Agency of Lake County's first executive director paid for his bachelors degree. A city planner, the Miami, Fla. native attended and graduated from Eastern Tennessee State University where he went on a golf scholarship.

Expertise

He was the first water resources director for Florida's Brevard County Department of Water Resources, where he established an environmental management and environmental protection department at the county level. The staff grew from four to 27 people, and Findell was responsible for providing advice, assistance and making recommendations to the board of county commissioners.

It was one of the first places he put together a solid and hazardous waste management program almost from scratch.

For the Tennessee-Virginia Development District, he established an environmental program for an eight-county area. The plan addressed solid waste management, storm water management, ground water protection, sludge management, lake restoration, and other concerns.

The son of a U.S. Air Force lawyer became pollution control division director for Lake County, Fla. in 1987 and six months later became environmental services director when that department was created. In the position, which he is leaving to join SWALCO in mid-March, Findell's credentials expanded to include managing, directing and coordinating the activities of departments addressing environmental planning, regulations and operations; the county's lake, soil and water conservation district, and the agriculture co-operation extension service.

He is moving to the Chicago area only because SWALCO made him an offer he couldn't refuse. "I was really challenged by the offer of this position," he said.

Lake County has approved a plan that reduces the amount of garbage produced by up to 10 percent; recycles and reuses about 25 percent (including composting); buries in a landfill an average of 10 percent; and burns about 40 percent at a waste-to-energy facility. A 15 percent flexibility factor has been included in the plan to allow for an increase in any category as demanded by the amount of waste generated.

Personal view

"My personal philosophy is geared toward volume reduction through recycling first and then determining the most adequate method of disposal after that," Findell said.

"It depends on how much you're able to recycle or compost, the availability of land resources for disposal, the potential for ground water contamination or surface water contamination that might result from land disposal (burying waste in a landfill) versus potential air contamination problems and bioaccumulation problems that may result from the operation of a waste-to-energy facility.

"I'm not aware of any solid waste management technique that represents a panacea. If it was practical and feasible to recycle all waste, then that would be the preferred method of solid waste management for most people. What often gets lost in discussions is that recycling comes with a cost as well. Recycling is not an inexpensive technology," Findell said.

Look to the future

A goal of recycling 60 percent of solid waste is one to work toward, he said, but recognized until it is achieved there is still garbage to manage. Findell advocates curbside collection of recyclables and implementing a county-wide plan to serve residents in unincorporated areas. He opposes drop-off centers because they are inconvenient and "have a tendency to become an eyesore."

Volume-based collection is worth investigating, he said, but cautioned against it because "sometimes it provides an incentive for people to dispose of their garbage illegally."

Findell, 44, places a high priority on developing a strong education program aimed at increasing participation in recycling efforts and heightening awareness about packaging. Education is valuable because "it allows you to participate in a discussion on an informed basis which allows you to be a more effective communicator of your ideas and concerns. Ultimately, it allows you to make informed decisions.

"It's also very important in providing the type of information necessary for the public to become involved in discussing the issue (of solid and hazardous waste management) on an informed basis rather than an emotional basis," he said.

Findell has a son and daughter, both college-age, and said his father taught him to question authority as well as respect it.

SWALCO Secretary Bill Barron said Findell recently was selected because he emphasized recycling over and above waste-to-energy as a disposal method. "We wanted somebody who was a proponent of a well-rounded and environmentally integrated solid waste system that attempts to emphasize up front recycling and reduction.

Findell was chosen by unanimous vote after a nationwide search was conducted by Paul Reaume, president of the PAR Group, an executive search firm in Lake Bluff. Nobody from the county applied for the position, Barron said.

Richardson leads hunger awareness week efforts

Barbara Richardson, Lake County Coroner, has been named Honorary Chairman of the 1992 "All Lake County Hunger Awareness Food Drive" scheduled for March 14 through 21, announced Barbara Dahl, President of the Lake County Food Resource Council.

This annual drive is again being sponsored by the Lake County Food Resource Council, a non-profit coalition of all County food pantries and soup kitchens; the North-east Council, Boy Scouts of America as their "Scouting For Food" Drive; the Lake County Life Underwriters Assoc.; and radio station WKRS/WXLC.

This year's drive will include active participation by Lake County schools, churches, civic organizations and businesses. All food and funds collected from the drive will be kept

Lake County and distributed to county soup kitchens and food pantries.

Traditionally, food drives are held before the holidays to fill pantry shelves. However, hunger is a problem county residents and agencies struggle with all year long.

For more information about the Fifth Annual Food Drive, call Barbara Dahl at (708)223-8627.

Easing Your Tax Burden

Easing tax burden—how to choose a tax preparer

by DICK WINTRODE

I know that most of you reading these weekly columns have been very diligent in keeping good records, and knowing what forms you should be filing. Yet, when it comes time to actually fill out your tax return, many find it difficult and frustrating. Fortunately, there are professional tax preparers in every city, town and neighborhood who can assist you.

Let me share with you the same four pieces of advice that I often give to friends and family when asked to help them select and use a professional tax preparer. These are:

Always go to a preparer you know or one that has a good reputation in your community. Don't go to someone who does tax work on a part-time basis, because you want to be sure they are available to assist you if there is a problem with your return in the future;

Always review the tax return after it has been completed. You are responsible for what is on your return regardless of who prepared it;

Never allow the refund check to be sent to the preparer's address, and never sign a blank tax return or a return prepared in pencil.

Let me also remind you that a paid preparer must sign his or her name as the preparer of the tax return in the space provided on the lower right hand corner of the back page of the return. If the preparer refuses to do this, please report it to us by calling (312)435-1040.

In this tight economy, I know there may be some of you that cannot afford a professional tax preparer this year, or who desire to learn how to prepare your forms yourself. If this is the case, we have a number of programs which can help you.

Self-help sessions, in which you prepare your own returns in a group under the supervision of a trained IRS taxpayer service representative, are offered during normal business hours at all of our offices in northern Illinois. For your convenience, we are open Mondays through Fridays during the filing season.

Our Outreach Program provides two types of assistance—group tax return preparation and tax information seminars. In the group preparation seminars, IRS employees go over the federal tax returns line by line assisting taxpayers in the preparation of their own tax returns. The tax information seminars bring together groups sharing a common interest for the purpose of clarifying areas of the tax law as it relates to their individual tax returns.

Through our Volunteer Income Tax Assistance Program (VITA), IRS-trained volunteers help low-income, elderly, handicapped, and non-English speaking taxpayers fill out their tax returns free of charge. VITA sites are located at various community centers, libraries, and senior citizen centers throughout the district.

Tax Counseling for the Elderly (TCE) volunteers, who often include members of American Assn. of Retired Persons (AARP), are trained by the IRS to assist senior citizens with the preparation of their returns, usually at the local senior center.

For more information on VITA or TCE programs, including locations, times, and phone numbers, call (312)435-1040. For forms and publications call 1(800)829-3676.

Understanding—protecting your taxpayer rights

If you're unlucky enough to have your tax return questioned by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS), don't panic. Taxpayers have certain rights guaranteed in the "Taxpayer Bill of Rights." The Illinois CPA Society emphasizes that it's important for you to know your rights to ensure that you are treated fairly under the tax system. If your return is questioned

The "Taxpayer Bill of Rights" ensures that you have sufficient opportunity to respond to IRS inquiries and resolve any differences. In most instances, the IRS will contact you by mail when they have an inquiry about your tax return. However, you do not necessarily have to respond to their questions through the mail. You can request a personal interview. Although the IRS makes the final determination of how, when and where the interview will take place, they must work with you in scheduling it at a reasonable time and in a reasonable place.

Be aware that you have the right to audiotape an interview. You must, however, notify the IRS at least 10 days in advance of the interview.

During any interviews, you may have a qualified professional, such as a CPA, attorney or enrolled agent, accompany you. Throughout your dealings with the IRS, these individuals may also represent you in your absence.

Of course, an interview with an IRS examiner may not help to resolve your differences. The IRS may still propose changes to your tax return, including increasing your tax liability. Keep in mind that you have the right to know the reasons for the change and have other options for presenting your case.

Appeals

All taxpayers have the right to appeal a tax examiner's findings. To do so, contact the IRS Appeals Office. If your problems cannot be settled through this office, you may make an appeal to the courts. Depending on whether you have already paid the disputed tax, you can take your case to the U.S. Tax Court, the U.S. Claims Court, or your U.S. District Court.

Cases which involve a dispute about whether you owe additional tax may be taken to the U.S. Tax Court. You must file a petition with the Tax Court within 90 days from the time the IRS officially notifies you about proposed deficiencies in your tax liability.

What if you have already paid the disputed tax in full and believe the IRS owes you money? Then you need to file a claim for a refund. If the IRS disallows the claim or does not take action within six months, you have the right to take your case to the U.S. Claims Court or your U.S. District Court.

Interest charges
You are responsible for paying interest on any additional taxes to be collected by the IRS. The interest is figured from the due date of your tax return, even if the return was filed under extension.

The IRS may reduce the amount of interest you owe if an IRS error caused a delay in processing your case. However, it's up to you to discuss the delay with an IRS examiner and file a claim for a refund.

Refund of overpaid tax

All is not lost if you've overpaid your taxes. Generally, you have three years from the date you filed the return or two years from the date you paid the tax, whichever is later, to file a claim for a refund. What's more, in some circumstances you can charge the IRS interest on the money due to you. You are entitled to receive interest on any income-tax refund delayed more than 45 days from the date you filed your return or the due date of the return, whichever is later.

Cancellation of Penalties

Even the IRS can make mistakes. If in calculating your taxes you relied on erroneous advice provided in writing by IRS employees, the IRS must cancel any resulting penalties. This assumes you gave the employee accurate information and that your reliance on the advice was reasonable.

Collecting back taxes

Before seizing any of your belongings as a way to recoup back taxes, the IRS must properly notify you. Specifically, they must send you a bill describing the tax and stating the amounts you owe, including interest and penalties. What's more, the IRS may not take any enforcement action, such as recording a tax lien or seizing property, until after they have tried to contact you and given you the opportunity to pay any taxes due to them.

You must be given 30 days notice before the IRS can place a levy on your property. In most instances, you have the legal right to keep certain property, including your home, a limited amount of personal belongings, furniture, and professional books and tools.

Confidentiality

Your tax return is considered confidential information. Be aware that the law allows the IRS to share your tax information with state tax agencies and, under strict legal guidelines, with the Department of Justice and other Federal agencies. However, you have the right to know the reason for such action.

Payment of required tax

As a taxpayer, it's perfectly within your rights to plan your business and personal finances so that you minimize your tax liability. You are only responsible for paying the correct amount of tax. If you have problems in determining the correct amount, call your local IRS office, the IRS toll-free hotline, 1(800)424-1040, or obtain assistance from a qualified tax preparer, such as a CPA.

The Illinois CPA Society is the state professional organization representing more than 24,500 certified public accountants.

When taxpayers need help

These are typical of questions asked by taxpayers and are presented as a public service of this publication and the IRS.

Q. Each year I struggle through my tax return. Where can I get some help?

A. IRS has a number of programs to assist taxpayers in meeting their federal tax information needs: publications, educational programs, volunteer income tax assistance, recorded tax information and telephone assistance. A complete listing of free tax help is in Publication 910, Guide to Free Tax Services available by calling toll-free

1(800)829-3676.

Q. Does IRS have special help programs for the elderly?

A. Yes. IRS sponsors a program called Tax Counseling for the Elderly (TCE) in which volunteers provide free tax help to people who are 60 or over, especially persons who have disabilities or who have special needs. Volunteers travel to assist the elderly wherever they are needed, whether they are homebound in retirement homes or at special sites in neighborhood centers, libraries, churches, or other places in the community.

Q. Where can I get a tax form I need?

A. Call the toll-free 1(800)829-3676 to order any IRS forms or publications.

Q. Is tax help available at places other than IRS offices?

A. Yes. The Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) Program provides free help to people with basic tax returns. VITA volunteers provide free help to those with special needs, including persons with disabilities, non-English speaking and elderly taxpayers at libraries, community colleges, schools shopping malls and other convenient locations in the community.

When and how to handle lump sum distributions

As the years go by and retirement funds continue to grow tax-free, the IRS stands by patiently waiting to get its share. When people are ready to begin receiving benefits, Uncle Sam will be ready to tax the money that has built up in the retirement tax shelter. When and how withdrawals from these retirement funds are made makes a big difference in how much tax will be paid. The Illinois CPA Society offers the following advice.

Company Pension Plans

Most company pension plans give retiring employees a choice between receiving their retirement funds in a lump sum or in periodic payments. The decision can have major tax consequences, so consulting a financial or tax professional can help determine your best course of action.

Choosing to take retirement funds in one lump sum will make the individual liable for income taxes on the entire amount in the year the funds are withdrawn. For those who qualify, some tax relief in the form of five-year forward averaging can be applied. Using the five-year averaging method, the entire lump sum is taxed in the year withdrawn—however, the tax is calculated as if the money was received evenly over five years, one fifth at a time. For individuals born before 1936, the option of applying either five-year or 10-year averaging is available. Those choosing the 10-year method must use the higher tax rates that were in effect in 1986 when the tax law was passed.

Individuals nearing retirement should also be aware of the 15 percent excise tax on what the IRS calls "excess distributions from qualified retirement plans." The general rule is that if the total received from all of an individual's retirement plans (including Individual Retirement Accounts), exceeds $150,000 a year, a 15 percent tax applies on the excess. By choosing to take a lump sum, you may withdraw up to $750,000 before you get hit with this tax. (Certain amounts that accumulated prior to Aug. 1, 1986, may be grandfathered if an election was filed with the 1988 tax return on Form 5329. The 15-percent excise tax does not apply to the grandfathered amount.)

Monies from retirement funds can also be withdrawn in the form of an annuity—periodic payments. The size of the payment depends on an individual's life expectancy or, in some cases, the life expectancy of the individual and their spouse. If a company has fully funded the annuity, every dime the individual receives is taxable. Any part of the annuity that comes from an individual's own non-tax-deductible contributions is considered a return on that individual's investment and will not be taxed.

If the money from a lump-sum distribution is not needed right away, the individual can roll the money over into an IRA, a move that postpones the tax bill until the funds are withdrawn at a later date. Keep in mind that any IRA monies withdrawn before age 59 will be subject to income tax on all or some of the amount withdrawn (depending on the proportion of deductible contributions to nondeductible contributions) plus a 10-percent penalty. The only exception to this rule is if an individual becomes permanently disabled or the distributions are paid under the life-annuity exception. Individuals can also be penalized for not starting to withdraw monies from an IRA account before April 1 of the year following the year the individual reached age 70.

Individuals do not have to roll over all the money they receive into an IRA account. Some of the cash can be kept—paying the taxes on that amount right away—and rolling the rest into an IRA to preserve the tax shelter. If diversification of investments is preferred, consider rolling the money into several different IRAs.

IRA Distributions

What if the lump-sum distribution is from an IRA rather than a company plan? In such cases, every dollar withdrawn from an IRA is taxable in the year it is withdrawn, except to the extent that it represents a return of nondeductible contributions. If the money withdrawn was taxed once, it is not taxed again. So if an individual has already paid income tax on the money (because nondeductible IRA contributions are made with after-tax dollars), that individual won't be taxed again when the money is withdrawn from the IRA.

In debt over your head?

If opening your credit card statements makes you queasy, it may mean that you have become a victim of your own spending habits.

To find out if your money management habits are putting you on the track to disaster, the Illinois CPA Society recommends that you ask yourself a few hard questions.

Do you pay off credit with credit?

If you take cash advances on credit cards to meet current bills, you are most likely living beyond your means. Set up a cash flow chart so you can better identify your income and expenses on a monthly basis.

Do you charge everything?

You're flirting with trouble if you reach for a charge card every time you make a purchase. Before using credit, ask yourself if you really need the item and how much you can afford to pay for it each month.

Do you only make minimum charge card payments?

If you only pay the minimum each month and never get close to paying off your credit card balances, the items you've purchased may be costing you more than you think. Although inflation rates have tapered off, credit card interest rates remain high. What's more, Uncle Sam is not giving you any breaks.

The consumer interest deduction was completely phased out this year.

Have you lost track of how many credits you have?

If you find more credit cards than you need falling out of your wallet, it's time to consolidate your credit. Be selective about the cards you choose. Read the fine print. Beware of unreasonable late payment fees and extra charges for cash advances. Don't be taken in by cards that promote "no annual fees." In some instances, instead of annual fees, issuers may charge transaction fees, especially high interest rates, or inflated annual fees after the first year.

Are you an impulse buyer?

If so, you probably have not set goals and spending priorities. Wise spenders set aside a modest allowance for impulse spending, thus bringing a bad habit under control.

Have you missed more than one mortgage payment?

Missing mortgage payments jeopardizes more than just your credit rating. Failure to repay these loans gives the creditor the legal right to foreclose on your home.

Do you live for today?

If so, it means that you don't have a financial plan. Without one, you may find yourself changing your lifestyle drastically when it's time for you to retire. Think about tomorrow by contributing to retirement plans, such as IRAs (Individual Retirement Accounts) and 401(k)s. Since these plans have penalties for early withdrawals, they offer incentive for saving for your future.

Do you worry about financial emergencies?

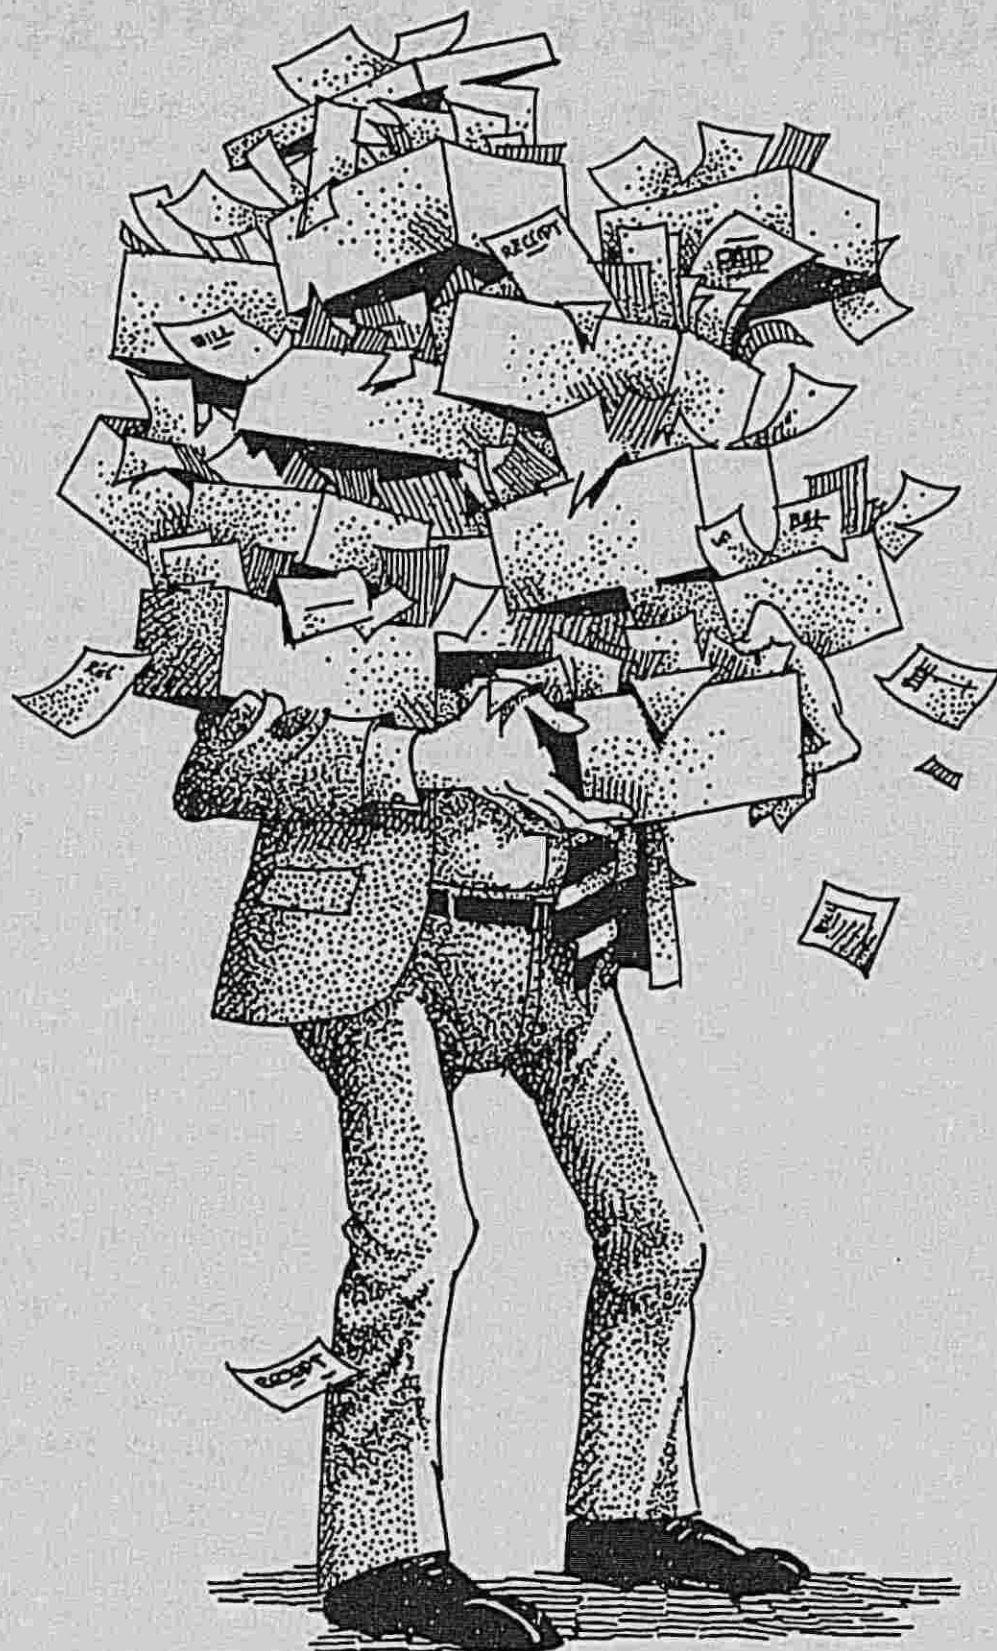

Worrying doesn't put money in the bank. CPAs and other financial advisors recommend establishing an emergency fund equal to three to six months of your living expenses.

Do you often say, "I just don't know where the money goes?"

If so, it's time you found out. Go through your checkbook and add up what you are spending in monthly periods. Then, keep a notebook in your pocket and record you expenses over the next month. This will help you find out how you are spending your cash.

If you've answered "yes" to many of the questions listed here, it's time to take control of your money—and your credit. CPAs also warn that you may be heading for a financial disaster if you commit more than 25 percent of your take-home pay to repaying your nonmortgage debts. Disciplining yourself to live within your means now will help to ensure a sound financial future for you and your family.

Dependents and Exemptions

Q. What qualifies a person to be claimed as a dependent on my tax return?

A. Five tests are used to determine dependency in order to claim an exemption on your tax return. They are: member of household or relationship test, citizenship test, joint return test, gross income test and support test. Each of these rules has its own criteria.

Q. Even though my dependent did not live with me the entire year, does he or she still qualify as a dependent on my tax return?

A. Yes, if he or she meets all the tests mentioned above, he or she may still qualify as a dependent.

Q. Is there any kind of income that is not taxable?

A. Yes. Some of the most common forms of nontaxable income include child support, life insurance proceeds, accident and health insurance proceeds, welfare benefits, worker's compensation and similar benefits for sickness and injury, gifts and inheritances, and under certain conditions, gain on the sale of your home if you are 55 or older.

Should you file joint or separate tax returns?

Whether you've been married for a day or a decade, don't assume that you should automatically file joint returns because you've done so in the past. The Illinois CPA Society recommends that before deciding whether to file jointly or separately, you should consider your current year's income and deductions and compare your tax liability under each filing method.

Keep in mind that most couples benefit from filing joint returns because the tax rates are generally lower and more credits and deductions are available. However, under certain circumstances, filing separately may save you money on your tax bills.

Married, filing jointly

Couples with one working spouse usually benefit from filing a joint return. This rule of thumb also applies when one working spouse earns substantially more than the other. Consider this example. John Jones has a taxable income of $39,000 and Mary Jones has a taxable income of $10,000. If they choose to file separately, their total tax liability would be $10,221. However, if they file a joint return, their tax liability would be $9,307, representing a tax savings of $914.

Joint filers get another tax break from Uncle Sam: They can deduct up to $25,000 for losses from an active real estate activity. The maximum allowable deduction on a separate return is $12,500, provided that the married couple has not lived together during the taxable year. If the couple has lived together and elects to file separate returns, no deduction is allowed.

Married, filing separately Under certain circumstances, filing separately may result in higher deductions for one spouse, thereby reducing the total tax liability for the married couple. This is especially true if both spouses earn similar salaries, but only one has significant tax-deductible expenses, such as unreimbursed medical bills or business expenses. The rules may be different for couples who live apart and have a dependent child, so check with your CPA. Here's an example where filing separately may make sense. Sam Smith has an adjusted gross income of $39,000 and his wife Susan has an adjusted gross income of $10,000 as a result of a pregnancy and an unexpected operation, Susan

There are some other benefits to filing jointly. These married couples will not have to pay taxes on their Social Security benefits provided that their combined adjusted gross income does not exceed $32,000. However, if they file separately, up to one-half of these benefits could be taxable.

Joint filers get another tax break from Uncle Sam: They can deduct up to $25,000 for losses from an active real estate activity. The maximum allowable deduction on a separate return is $12,500, provided that the married couple has not lived together during the taxable year. If the couple has lived together and elects to file separate returns, no deduction is allowed.

Married, filing separately

Under certain circumstances, filing separately may result in higher deductions for one spouse, thereby reducing the total tax liability for the married couple. This is especially true if both spouses earn similar salaries, but only one has significant tax-deductible expenses, such as unreimbursed medical bills or business expenses. The rules may be different for couples who live apart and have a dependent child, so check with your CPA.

Here's an example where filing separately may make sense. Sam Smith has an adjusted gross income of $39,000 and his wife Susan has an adjusted gross income of $10,000 as a result of a pregnancy and an unexpected operation, Susan has unreimbursed medical expenses of $5,000. Her deductions for those expenses would be $4,250 if she filed separately, but only $1,325 if she filed a joint return. This is because the deduction is the amount by which her expenses exceed 7.5 percent of her adjusted gross income.

The same principle applies to miscellaneous itemized deductions. Because there is a 2-percent adjusted gross income limitation, couples may benefit by filing separately if one spouse has high unreimbursed business expenses or other qualified expenses. If Susan has unreimbursed expenses of $3,000, by filing separately her deduction would be $2,800. However, if she elected to file a joint return, the allowable deduction would be less, only $2,020.

Remember, however, that if Mary itemizes deductions, John must also itemize deductions on his tax return.

If you're thinking about buying a new or used car, boat & motor, snowmobile, motorcycle, mobile home, travel trailer, camper...

Let us help you finance it!

American Family has a simple system for providing you with fast, convenient financing. You don't have to be an American Family Policyholder to qualify. In fact, all you have to do is call us. One call. One form. No hassle. We think it's the direct way, the personal way, the easy way to finance those purchases. All it takes is a phone call to put the wheels in motion. Call us today.

We can arrange it.

Draw up—stick to annual financial plan

It happens every year. Households all over America make up an annual budget and a firm resolution to stick to it. Unfortunately, by April, the next time most people give in to the pressure to think seriously about financial management, they've already strayed hopelessly from the original plan and don't know how it happened.

The news here is that it's not the individual, it's the budget. Budgets can never be realistic because they are dependent on costs over which we have no control.

This does not mean, however, that people should throw up their hands and spend in a vacuum. Every household should establish a reasonable, flexible financial plan that can be adapted to its changing financial situation. The way to accomplish this goal is not to plan what to spend and what to save, but rather, how to spend and save.

First, chart income and expenses. Using the standard categories—clothing, credit cards, entertainment, food, household maintenance, insurance, investments, legal/medical, taxes, utilities, and work/school—make a chart that records the monthly income and expenses for each. This will keep track of cash flow and it is an effective curb on overspending.

Review investments. Make sure that the mix among cash savings, stock and bonds, real estate (not including your home) and collectibles continues to reflect short-and long-term savings goals.

Check up on insurance coverage. As the family/household situation changes, so do insurance needs. This is especially true of disability insurance because people are more likely to become temporarily disabled rather than die during their working years. Most people need coverage that will pay 60 to 70 percent of their pretax earnings.

Contribute to a tax deferred retirement plan. Whether it's an individual or matched savings plan through an employer, everyone should have a retirement plan. If possible, make the maximum contribution at the beginning of the year so that it can reap the most interest.

Get the highest rate on savings. Check around. Why let savings sit in a 6.25 percent passbook account when some guaranteed funds are paying 9.2 percent?

Review credit situation. Check loan and credit card rates and fees for re-financing. Remember to look for the most value from credit cards.

Many come with enhancements that increase buying power and offer value-added packages such as purchase assurance and extended warranties, or provide legal and medical protection or roadside assistance.

Check estate plan. This means updating your will. If, like almost two-thirds of American adults, you don't have one, make one. Even if you are single, this will guarantee that your finances don't become someone else's problem.

Reviewing these guidelines annually will prevent you from becoming a slave to an annual budget with figures that are quickly outdated. Instead, you will have a flexible plan that allows you to make your own decisions.

Filing

Married, filing separately means each spouse is responsible for his or her return only. On the other hand, if both spouses sign a joint return, each of them is liable for the taxes due. A divorced taxpayer may be held responsible for the tax, interest, and penalty due on a joint return filed prior to the divorce, in spite of a divorce decree that may state otherwise, points out the Illinois CPA Society.

Change of filing status
If you file a joint return and then charge your mind, you can file separate returns for that year, as long as this is done by the due date of your tax return. However, if you file separate returns, you may change those returns, excluding any extensions.

BANKING & FINANCE 1992

Financing college education with federal assistance

The federal government allocated some $18.4 billion for student financial assistance for the current academic year and will set aside a similar amount for the 1992-93 school year. To take advantage of this available funding, the Illinois CPA Society recommends that interested students complete financial aid applications as soon as possible.

With more than 13.6 million U.S. citizens continuing their education beyond high school, demand for federal grants and loans is likely to be great.

Although the student aid application deadline is May 1, students must often meet earlier deadlines set by schools in order to receive certain types of funds. What's more, the government may run out of funds long before the deadline arrives.

Stafford Loans

The largest number of student loans are Stafford Loans (formerly Guaranteed Student Loans).

These loans are made by a lender, such as a bank, credit union, or savings and loan assn. Repayment of the loan, however, is guaranteed by the federal government. You must begin to pay the loan back six months after you graduate or withdraw from school.

Interest rates on Stafford Loans are generally low. To help the federal government reduce the cost of subsidizing these low interest loans, there is generally an "origination fee" of 5 percent. This is deducted proportionately from each loan disbursement made to you.

Plus and SLS Loans

Like Stafford Loans, PLUS Loans and Supplemental Loans for Students (SLS) are made by a lender. However, interest rates are usually higher. Despite the higher interest rates, don't underestimate the value of these loans. PLUS enables parents to borrow up to $4,000 per year, to a total of $20,000 for each child who is a dependent student and enrolled in a college or university at least half-time. SLS enables graduate and independent undergraduate students to borrow the same amounts, and like PLUS loans, comes with variable interest rates. Generally PLUS and SLS borrowers must begin repaying both principal and interest within 60 days after the last loan disbursement.

Pell Grants

A Pell Grant is an award to help undergraduates pay for their education. Unlike loans, these grants do not have to be repaid. The maximum award for the 1991-92 academic year is $2,400. The amount of the grant depends on a number of different factors, including the cost of tuition at the school, whether the student is enrolled full-time or part-time, and whether the student attends school for a full academic year.

Campus-Based Programs

Additional financial assistance is usually available through programs administered by schools. These include a Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant (SEOG) for undergraduates with exceptional financial needs; low-interest Perkins Loans, made available to both graduate and undergraduate students through a school's financial aid office; and the College Work Study Program which provides jobs for undergraduate and graduate students who need financial aid.

Eligibility Requirements
Aid for most of the federal student financial aid programs, except for PLUS and SLS loans, is awarded on the basis of financial need. You are also required to be a U.S. citizen with a high school diploma or General Education Development Certificate.

Grades are also a factor in determining your eligibility. You must demonstrate that you are making satisfactory academic progress, which in most cases means maintaining at least a "C" average.

How to apply

You can obtain a federal financial aid form from your high school guidance counselor or a college financial aid office. The following forms should be available:

- *"Application for Federal and State Student Aid" (AFSSA)
- *"Singlefile Form"
- *"Family Financial Statement" (FFS)
- *"Financial Aid Form" (FAF)

Generally, it takes four weeks for your application to be processed, at which time you will receive a Student Aid Report (SAR). The SAR will contain the information you gave on your application, plus numbers that tell you about your eligibility for specific federal aid.

Questions & answers on what is considered income

Q. I received an inheritance last year. Do I have to include the inheritance as income on my tax return?

A. Property you receive as a gift, bequest or inheritance is not included in income; however, if property you receive this way later produces income, such as interest, dividends or rents, that income is taxable to you.

Q. Do I have to claim my state income tax refund as income on my federal tax return?

A. The answer depends on whether or not you deducted your state taxes on your federal tax return for the year of the refund. If you did not itemize deductions for the year for which you receive your refund, you do not include any of the refund in income. If you did itemize deductions in the prior year, the amount you must include in income on your federal tax return is limited to the smaller of the amount you deducted on Schedule A or the amount recovered. The amount that must be included is also limited to the amounts of itemized deductions that reduced your tax in the prior year.

Q. My parents helped us buy our new home by paying part of our down payment. Must we include that gift as income on our tax return?

A. Generally, gifts are not included in income. Gifts of more than $10,000 must be reported by the contributor on Form 709, United States Gift (and Generation Skipping Transfer) Tax Return, or Form 709-A, United States Short Form Gift Tax Return, (used by married couples to report nontaxable gifts of more than $10,000 but less than $20,000). For more information, consult Publication 448, Federal Estate and Gift Taxes.

Q. I pick up a few extra dollars as a waiter. How much of my tip income do I have to report?

A. All of it must be included in income. You may report your tip income on Form 1040, 1040A or 1040EZ. If you received tips of $20 or more in a month, you must report your tip income to your employer, who is required to withhold social security and federal income tax from the amount you report.

Q. Do I have to report the alimony I receive?

A. Yes. Payments designated as alimony or separate maintenance payments you receive must be included in income. Child support payments, however, are not taxable and should not appear on your tax return as income.

Filing returns electronically

Q. What is the chief advantage of having my tax return filed electronically?

A. Speed. If you file electronically your refund will be issued within three weeks. If you elect to receive your refund by "Direct Deposit," you should receive your refund even sooner.

Q. Why is electronic filing faster than filing my return on paper?

A. When IRS receives your electronically filed return, many of the processing steps, such as sorting, batching and numbering of returns, as well as checking for math errors, are done by computers. This allows IRS to process your refund faster.

Q. Does electronic filing mean IRS can audit my return faster?

A. No. Once your return is processed, it is treated the same as any other tax return for examination considerations.

Q. How does electronic filing work?

A. You can take your completed tax return to an accepted electronic filer, or you may wish to have a tax preparer do your return for you. They will transmit your return directly to IRS computers to start processing your return and get your refund on its way.

Q. Are any paper forms required to file electronically?

A. Yes. You must sign Form 8453, U.S. Individual Income Tax Declaration for Electronic Filing, authorizing your return to be transmitted electronically. You must also provide copies of your forms W-2, Wage and Tax Statement. They will be forwarded to IRS and matched with your electronically transmitted tax return information.

Q. Does the IRS make refund anticipation loans; that is, advance money before the tax return is processed?

A. No. IRS is not a party to refund anticipation loans. The transaction is strictly between taxpayer and lender.

Check full benefits on medical expenses

If you were thinking about having a facelift, tummy tuck or hair transplant, think again. Beginning in 1991, the cost of "unnecessary" cosmetic surgery is no longer deductible. Only surgery for a deformity caused by a congenital abnormality, a disfiguring disease, or an accidental injury is deductible.

While deducting unreimbursed medical expenses has become more difficult, it is not impossible. To deduct medical costs on your 1991 tax return, your unreimbursed expenses must total more than 7.5 percent of your adjusted gross income. If, for example, your adjusted gross income is $40,000, you can deduct only those medical expenses that exceed 7.5 percent of your adjusted gross income, or $3,000.

While the 7.5-percent floor may rule out the deduction for many families, it may not be as far out of reach as you think. According to the Illinois CPA Society, the Internal Revenue Service defines medical care in broad terms. Here are some basics on how to check up on your medical expenses.

The basic medical expenses

Payments to a family doctor, dentist, eye doctor, nurse, chiropractor, psychiatrist, and podiatrist may all qualify as deductible medical expenses. Laboratory tests, insulin, and prescription drugs qualify too. Additionally, just about all hospital-related charges are deductible—from intensive care nurses to blood transfusions. About the only item you cannot deduct is the cost to rent a hospital television.

While you may no longer deduct the cost of cosmetic surgery, other surgical treatments that affect the structure or functions of the body remain deductible. The same holds true for supplies and special aids purchased to correct a physical defect or furnish relief from an ailment. Included in this category are artificial limbs and teeth, braces and crutches, eyeglasses and contact lenses, hearing aids, seeing eye dogs, and special telephone equipment for the deaf.

Nursing services for a physically or mentally ill person are likewise deductible. However, the care provided must be medical in nature—such as bathing and dressing the patient, taking blood pressure and temperature, and giving medication. The person providing the care does not have to be a registered or licensed nurse for the cost to be deductible.

Nursing homes

The costs associated with a nursing home confinement may be fully deductible, partially deductible, or not deductible at all, depending on why the person is in the nursing home. If the availability of medical care is the primary reason for selecting a nursing home, you may be able to deduct the full cost, even though some of the cost covers food and lodging. When someone chooses to live in a nursing home for personal reasons, the cost is generally non-deductible. However, if part of the nursing home's fee is specifically for medical services or nursing care, that portion of the charge may qualify as a medical expense. In any case, deducting nursing home costs can be tricky; CPAs strongly urge taxpayers to do further research before attempting to write off such expenses.

Special schools/training programs

Another relatively unknown medical deduction is the cost of special schools or training programs for a mentally or physically handicapped person, if the main purpose for attending is to relieve the handicap. The curriculum at the school must be directed primarily at the treatment of the handicap, but may also include regular educational programs. Home improvements for medical care

Generally, the cost of improvements made to your home, prescribed in writing by a doctor, can be deducted. However, an improvement that increases the value of your home is considered a capital expenditure. In this case, your deduction will be limited to the difference between what you pay and the increase in the value of your home. If, for example, you spend $20,000 on a pool and it

Medical expenses

boosts the value of your property by $15,000, your qualifying medical expense would be $5,000. If the value of your home is not increased, the expense is fully deductible.

The cost of certain home improvements for handicapped individuals, and which generally do not increase the value of a personal residence, are fully deductible. For example, if you construct entrance and exit ramps, wide doorways and hallways to accommodate wheelchairs, install railings, support bars and other modifications in bathrooms, lower or otherwise modify kitchen cabinets and equipment, or adjust electrical outlets and fixtures to accommodate a physical handicap, you may write off the full cost of these home alterations as medical expenses.

Transportation expenses for medical care

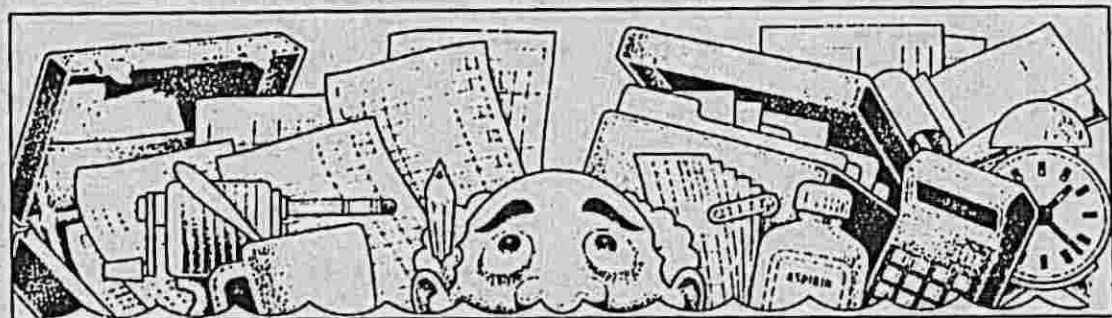

The cost of transportation necessary to receive medical care may also be deemed a medical expense. If you drive your car to the doctor's office or hospital, you can deduct nine cents a mile plus the costs of parking and tolls, or the actual cost of gas and oil, plus parking and tolls. If you use public transportation, your bus, taxi, or train fare is deductible. In addition, if, on the advice of a doctor, you or your child seek medical treatment away from home, your lodging costs of up to $50 a day per person, can be included in your deductible medical expenses. The deduction may also be claimed for a person who must accompany the individual seeking medical care.

Premiums for medical

Insurance

You may deduct your costs for medical insurance coverage, as well as any Medicare fees you pay directly. If you are self-employed you may be able to deduct 25 percent of what you pay for medical insurance for yourself and your family as an adjustment to income rather than as an itemized deduction. The other 75 percent of your premiums is added to your other medical expenses and are subject to the 7.5-percent floor. There's one catch—if you have employees, you must pay for their health insurance, too, in order to qualify to deduct 25 percent of the cost of your own coverage.

To ensure that you are taking full advantage of all the tax benefits to which you are entitled, the Illinois CPA Society advises you to consult a tax expert.

6.6%* = 9.16% TAX-FREE • TAXABLE SOMETIMES, LESS IS MORE.

Tax-free investments mean more income for you. In fact, if you're in the 28% tax bracket a tax-free bond yielding 6.6%* pays as much after-tax income as a taxable bond yielding 9.16%.

Which form should you use?

Q. How do I decide which IRS tax return to use?

A. The way to tell which form to use is to do a rough calculation. Total your itemized deductions and compare them with your standard deduction. If your itemized deductions are greater than the standard deduction, you will pay less tax by itemizing and you should use Form 1040 (the blue form). You must use Form 1040 to itemize deductions. If you do not file Form 1040, you may be able to use either of the other two, Form 1040A (the pink form), or 1040EZ (the green form).

Q. What are the qualifications to use the 1040EZ?

A. You must be single, claim no exemptions for children or other dependents, claim no tax credits, have taxable income less than $50,000 and interest income of less than $400. Finally, all of your income must be from wages, salaries or tips. Most of the instructions are on the back of the form.

Q. Can I use Form 1040A if I want to take the child care credit?

A. Yes. If you do not itemize deductions and you are not qualified to use Form 1040EZ, you can probably use Form 1040A.

Q. Can I file my tax return electronically if I use any kind of IRS tax return?

A. Yes. If you are due a refund and use Form 1040EZ, Form 1040A or Form 1040 you can file electronically. Most accompanying schedules required on the long form can be filed electronically. Whichever tax form you file, filing it electronically will speed your refund.

Q. I am retired and last year I used form 1040, but the IRS sent me a Form 1040A this year. Which form should I use?

A. There are two versions of the Form 1040A package being sent to taxpayers. One contains a schedule for figuring the credit for the elderly or disabled and was sent to taxpayers who used Form 1040 last year but who should be able to use the new Form 1040A in 1990. A different version of the 1040A (without the schedule for the elderly) was sent to other Form 1040A filers.

Divorced or separated taxpayers

Q. I pay alimony to my ex-wife and child support for my children. Can I deduct these payments on my tax return?

A. Alimony and/or separate maintenance payments you make to your spouse or ex-spouse under a divorce or separation agreement are deductible on your tax return. The income from alimony or separate maintenance must be reported as income by the recipient. Child support payment rules are different. Do not deduct child support payments you make. The recipient of child support payments does not report them as income.

Q. Nothing in my divorce decree spells out who is entitled to claim our children as dependents. What are the rules?

A. A parent must meet several criteria in order to claim a child's exemption. Generally, the parent who provides more than 50 percent of the child's support is allowed to claim the deduction. The parent who has custody of the child is generally treated as the parent who provides more support. If neither the divorce decree or other agreement establishes custody, the parent who has physical custody for the greater part of the year is considered to have custody. A custodial parent can release the exemption to the noncustodial parent by signing Form 8332, Release of Claim to Exemption for Child of Divorced or Separated Parents, or a similar written statement. However, the non-custodial parent will be treated as providing more than half of the child's support if a decree or agreement executed before 1985 provides that the noncustodial parent is entitled to the exemption and he or she provides at least $600 for the child's support during the year, unless the pre-1985 decree or agreement is modified after 1984 to specify that this provision will not apply.

Q. I was divorced in December last year. Can I still file a joint tax return?

A. No. If you are divorced under final decree by the last day of the tax year, you are considered single for the whole year.

Q. My divorce requires me to turn over some property to my ex-spouse. How do I treat this transaction on my tax return?

A. If there is no gain or loss involved in the transfer, there are no tax implications. Generally, no gain or loss is recognized on any transfer of property to a spouse or former spouse. Such a transfer is treated by the recipient as acquired by gift and is not considered as a sale or exchange. The recipient's basis in the property will be the same as the adjusted basis of the transferor immediately before the transfer. A transfer of property is incident to a divorce if the transfer occurs within one year of after the date the marriage ends or if the transfer is related to the end of the marriage. Get IRS Publication 504, Tax Information for Divorced or Separated Individuals, for more information.

The Strength To Endure

Since early childhood we have all been taught that life confronts us with difficult decisions. To a great degree our ability to confront the adversities that come our way depends upon our willingness to prepare and plan ahead.
Facing our own inevitable destiny is probably the most difficult decision we may have to make. Our staff is trained to answer your questions and discuss the options that are available when you choose to plan ahead.

TONAPAH (400-44)
By Landmark Designs, Inc.

Bright and cozy, the Tonapah is a cabin with a gambrel, or barn-style roof and an open beam ceiling. Although the home is designed for use as a vacation getaway, singles and couples with no children or grown children may find it spacious enough for year-round living.

Rectangular in shape (24 by 36 feet), the Tonapah has approximately 1,200 feet of living space, fits on a small lot and is economical to build.

Six huge windows—three above and three below—brighten a great room that occupies the front half of the home. Open to the roof beams, this combined living room, dining room and kitchen has a wide open feeling that invites you to shuck off the cares of the world, settle into an easy chair and relax. A woodstove could be included in either the dining or living room to provide additional warmth and cheer.

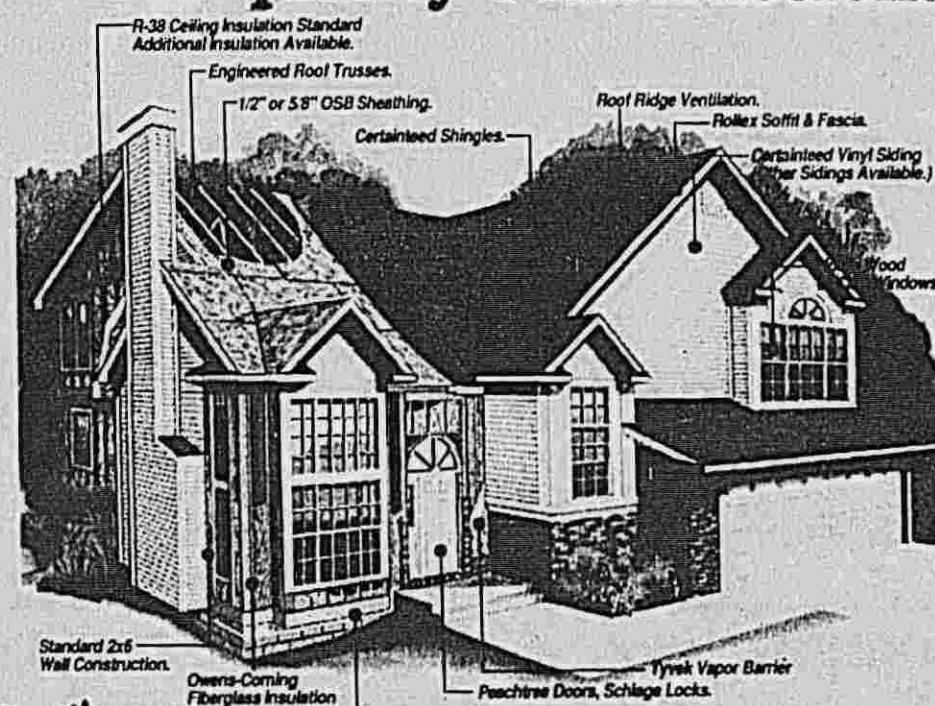

The kitchen is compact, but has plenty of cupboard and counter space. One of the counter extensions could be outfitted as an eating bar.

Total privacy is available in the master suite—the only room upstairs. Lying in bed here gives the owners yet another opportunity to appreciate the strong, clean lines of the exposed roof beams. The suite has a private bathroom and two closets. Additional storage space is behind.

Two small bedrooms, another bathroom, and an average size utility room are below, at the back of the cabin. The utility room has an outside door, allowing people to remove muddy or snowy footwear here before entering the rest of the house.

For a study plan of the TONAPAH (400-44) send $7.50 to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307, Eugene, OR 97402. (Be sure to specify plan name and number when ordering). Designers, Architects and readers with plans they would like to see featured also are invited to contact Landmark.

Everywhere you look you'll see our quality construction.

Now Exciting extras for your new home.

Slow Drains?

You'll never have a slow running, or clogged drain again!

The secret? Clean drains don't run slow. The "slows", or periodic clogs, are signals that a thick layer of "gook" is choking your pipes. This gook coats the entire length of your pipe - from sink to sewer, or septic.

Conventional drain openers cannot remove this build up. Even a small tunnel through the waste lets them flow through the pipe, leaving the gook behind!

Now, with just a few minutes each month, you can easily clean out your pipes like new...and KEEP them clean with Plumb Clean®. It clings, and penetrates deep into the gook. No other product has the Plumb Clean® formula. That is what allows it to liquefy even years of build up. Plumb Clean® will clean the entire length of your pipes. It will make your drains run like new, when used as directed. This penetrating action is so revolutionary, Plumb Clean® is money-back guaranteed! Don't be confused. Plumb Clean® is the brand with the guarantee right on the label.

Save Money. A 1 lb. jar of Plumb Clean® holds up to 41 drain treatments. It costs only about 35¢ per treatment.

Independent laboratory studies show Plumb Clean® more effectively breaks down organic waste than all other products tested. So, if your drains have the "slows", get safe, guaranteed Plumb Clean® today! Available only at:

Malec, Antioch's rally bid falls short vs. Scouts

Just when Lake Forest's boys basketball Coach Bob Olsen may have thought about sending in the reserves Saturday at Antioch, the home team would make a run.

The Sequoits found themselves down 9-2, 19-9 and 31-24 in the first half, and each time came back to postpone a wide margin of victory. But in the end, the Sequoits comebacks fell short in a 63-55 North Suburban Conference loss. The defeat, coupled with a 95-66 loss to league-leading Stevenson the night before, drops Antioch to 5-5 in the NSC, 8-11 overall and in a third place tie with Mundelein.

"We were just being impatient with what we were trying to do," Antioch Coach Jeff Dresser said.

Chris Malec, Antioch's 6-8 center, led the way in both games, scoring 20 against the Patriots and 18 against Lake Forest. Malec scored 14 of his 18 points in the second half against the Scouts.

Jamie Montgomery and Jeff Woods had 10 points each. Woods had a 170-point game against Stevenson.

Antioch will battle rival Warren at home Feb. 7 at 7:30 p.m.

Antioch trailed by as many as 12 points against Lake Forest, cut the lead in the fourth quarter. A Malec shot brought Antioch to within 49-47 with 3:40 left. Antioch had a chance to tie, but missed, and Josh Lerner (nine points) hit a three-point play and Chad Kasdin connected on one of his three three-point shots, upping the lead to 55-47 with 3:24 left. Antioch could not get any close than five points after that.

AARP members enjoy meeting

More than 100 members of the American Assn. of Retired Persons (AARP) enjoyed lunch served by Paul Howard, of the Antioch Senior Center, on Jan. 28. Since it was a social meeting, Marge LaParr, president, held a short meeting for special announcements and to keep members current on future activities.

Flag Bearers for the meeting were Elmer Stepany and Walter Papenfus. Helen Halka and Blanche Babic will take over the duties of the Membership Committee, in the absence of Agnes Allgire, Chairperson who will be out of town to be with husband Bob who is recuperating after surgery. Bob is receiving therapy in a hospital in Wheaton.

Membership dues are now being accepted. Annual dues remain at $2 but will be increased as soon as approval is received from the National Chapter.

Next meeting on Feb. 11 will be a Valentine Party with a Brown's Chicken lunch. A King and Queen will be chosen to reign over the events.

Letters to the Editor

Caught by meter

Have you ever driven through the town of Antioch? The first thing to catch your eye are those funny little metal boxes on poles that decorate the down town area. No, your eyes aren't deceiving you, they really are the old fashioned parking meters you thought were extinct so long ago. Remember how you used to just hate shopping downtown because if you took more than two hours to spend your money, that darn meter would set off a red flag and you'd get a parking ticket?

I got a parking ticket in Antioch the other day for not spending my money fast enough. I paid the 25 cent meter fee for a two hour parking privilege and went into a local beauty shop for a cut and perm. I knew I was in trouble when by stylist was only at the wet hair in perm curler stage and almost two hours had gone by. I suppose I could have run out, wet hair and all, in zero degree weather to fee the meter. The Village of Antioch needs that 25 cents more than I need my health, but somehow the idea didn't seem too smart at the time.

Sure enough, I got a ticket. I was a good citizen and walked down to the Village Hall to pay my fine along with a piece of my mind. All I got in return was a smirk from the clerk as she took my money.

I wonder what would have happened if I had charged out of the local clothing store dressing room only half dressed to feed the meter. Would I get a ticket for indecent exposure only if I didn't make it to the meter on time? Or would I get just half a fine for being only half undressed? What if I were in the downtown restaurant and had to leave my favorite blueberry pie dessert to feed the meter. Would I get arrested upon my return for leaving the scene of a meal in progress?

I do remember reading articles in the paper about the Village of Antioch's slogan "Shop Antioch and show your support for your local merchants." What I don't recall is seeing the fine print "Just do it in two hours or we'll fine you!"

Wake up

Editor:

Several weeks ago my son's new bicycle was stolen from a home in the village. He had ridden to a friend's house and put the bike on their front porch. Someone took his bike and his friend's during the middle of the afternoon. The police were called and came to take a report. While the officer was there, he related that four or five other bikes had also been stolen that same week.

The thing that amazes me is that these kids belong to someone who should be able to notice that their garage or basement is getting full of bikes and/or parts. These kids are probably running a "mini chop shop" and selling the parts to their friends. The other side is that if you let your kids buy used bike parts the chance is that they are probably stolen. Do you want your kids to grow up thinking that this is OK?

The police can't be everywhere. As parents we have to take the responsibility of knowing what our kids are doing. If we neglect this responsibility, we are more at fault than they are. Sooner or later they will get caught and suffer the consequences. Wake up now before it's too late!

Some surprises and a new champion for the first time in seven years proved to be highlights at the North Suburban Conference wrestling meet.

Antioch, which hosts its regional Feb. 8, won the meet for the first time in school history with 167 points at Mundelein. Libertyville was second with 125.5, Mundelein third at 98, Warren fourth at 81 and Lake Forest fifth at 53. Zion-Benton, Stevenson and North Chicago rounded out the standings.

"The regional will be a tough situation because you will have three conference champs - Antioch, Round Lake and Waukegan. Somebody will get left out," Antioch Coach Ted DeRousse said.

Most area individuals will be at Antioch or Stevenson regionals Feb. 8. Teams at Antioch will be: Antioch, Grant, Grayslake, Warren, Round Lake, Waukegan and Zion-Benton.

Teams at Stevenson will be: Highland Park, Lake Forest, Libertyville, Carmel, Mundelein, North Chicago and Stevenson. Rounds at Antioch will be at 10 a.m., noon and 6 p.m. At Stevenson, times will be 10 a.m., noon and 2 p.m.

Johnsburg will be at Woodstock and Lake Zurich is at Hersey.

DeRousse's forces have been knocking at the proverbial door the last several years, only to see Libertyville continue its stranglehold. The Wildcats have won or shared the title since 1986.

"We had 11 of 13 wrestlers place and three champs. We did not lose to anybody we had beaten all year and we beat five guys who had defeated us," DeRousse said. "Anytime you have 11 of 13 places, you have a real team effort."

Greg Zalapi started the night off on the right foot for Antioch, defending his title at 103 pounds. Zalapi defeated Dave Reyes of Warren 13-2.

Other Sequoit champions were the Lehn brothers. Tim Lehn defeated Kevin Wolnik of Libertyville 15-2 at 160 and Tom Lehn bested Shawn Miller of Fenton 7-5.

Warren provided the surprise of the tournament. Jeremy Carter defeated previously unbeaten Eric Browne of Mundelein in overtime, 12-10.

"I felt I had a decent chance because I had the five-point lead and he had to play catch-up," Carter said.

Carter had to overcome two elbow injuries to reach the conference champ level. "One elbow was hurt last year, then he reinjured the other elbow in practice," Warren Coach Mark Tiffany said.

Browne beat Carter 11-3 in duals. "It was one of Jeremy's first few matches at 119. He had to adjust to the weight class and get used to going the distance. He works hard, lifting weights. He did what he had to do to rehabilitate those elbows," Tiffany said.

Hubie Botzotz won Warren's second title, at 135 pounds, defeating Jessie Orsby of North Chicago 7-2. Botzotz said he used the winning move several times this year. He did not know quite what to expect in the conference. "I see he's first seed (Orsby), I had to psych myself up. I was 8-15 last year and dropping weight. I missed the conference and regionals. I never wrestled in a tournament before. To come here and take first was great," Botzotz said.

"I want to go there and beat Curt Onstad (Grayslake's unbeaten wrestler)," he said of the Feb. 8 meet.

CHS gymnasts move on, still strive for perfection

Carmel continued to wow 'em with a whopping 147.15 to take the Deerfield regional Monday.

The undefeated Corsairs and the top five individuals from each event qualified for the Stevenson sectional Feb. 13. Libertyville, which came in second at 136.90, may make the sectional field as an at-large team when other sectional-feeder regionals are complete.

Was Carmel coach Norbert Bendixen surprised by the stellar score?

"No — and I don't mean that arrogantly," Bendixen said. "As far as the score goes — and that's not what we center in on — we performed pretty well in that meet. We're still not perfect yet."

Carmel's Eme Cole took the all-around with a 9.49 average, while Mundelein's Jenny Snell was second at 9.48. Sarah Mikrut and Jaime Wegener of Carmel were third and fourth, respectively.

Jenny Logue of Carmel was tops in vaulting (9.45), Cole took the bars (9.75), Snell was first on the beam (9.4) and in floor exercise (9.6).

It was the first meet for Mikrut after she sat out a month with an injured elbow.

"We're real proud of what she's accomplished," Bendixen said of Mikrut's comeback.

Other area sectional qualifiers from the Deerfield regional include Sara Schieffer of Libertyville and Carmel's Bea Selz.

The Corsairs took the Girls Catholic Athletic Conference Meet at Queen of Peace Saturday by edging Resurrection 144.65-142.15. Cole won the all-around, while Selz tied for second.

Libertyville (139.55) captured Saturday's North Suburban Conference Meet at Stevenson, while the host Patriots (137.80) were second. Individual winners included Snell on the bars and Stevenson's Allison Galatte in floor ex.

Lake Zurich took third place in the Northern Illinois Gymnastics Association Meet at Cary-Grove Saturday.

Scoring errors take title from Round Lake

by GREG MILLER
Lakeland Newspapers

Round Lake had little time to savor what the Panthers thought was their third straight Northwest Suburban Conference title before it was determined that Johnsbury had actually won the meet.

The Panthers left the Jan. 31 meet at Marian Central in Woodstock with a 159.5-156 edge over the second-place Skyhawks. But errors later found in the scoring gave Johnsbury the title with a 173-153.5 margin over Round Lake. Grayslake was third with 147 points.

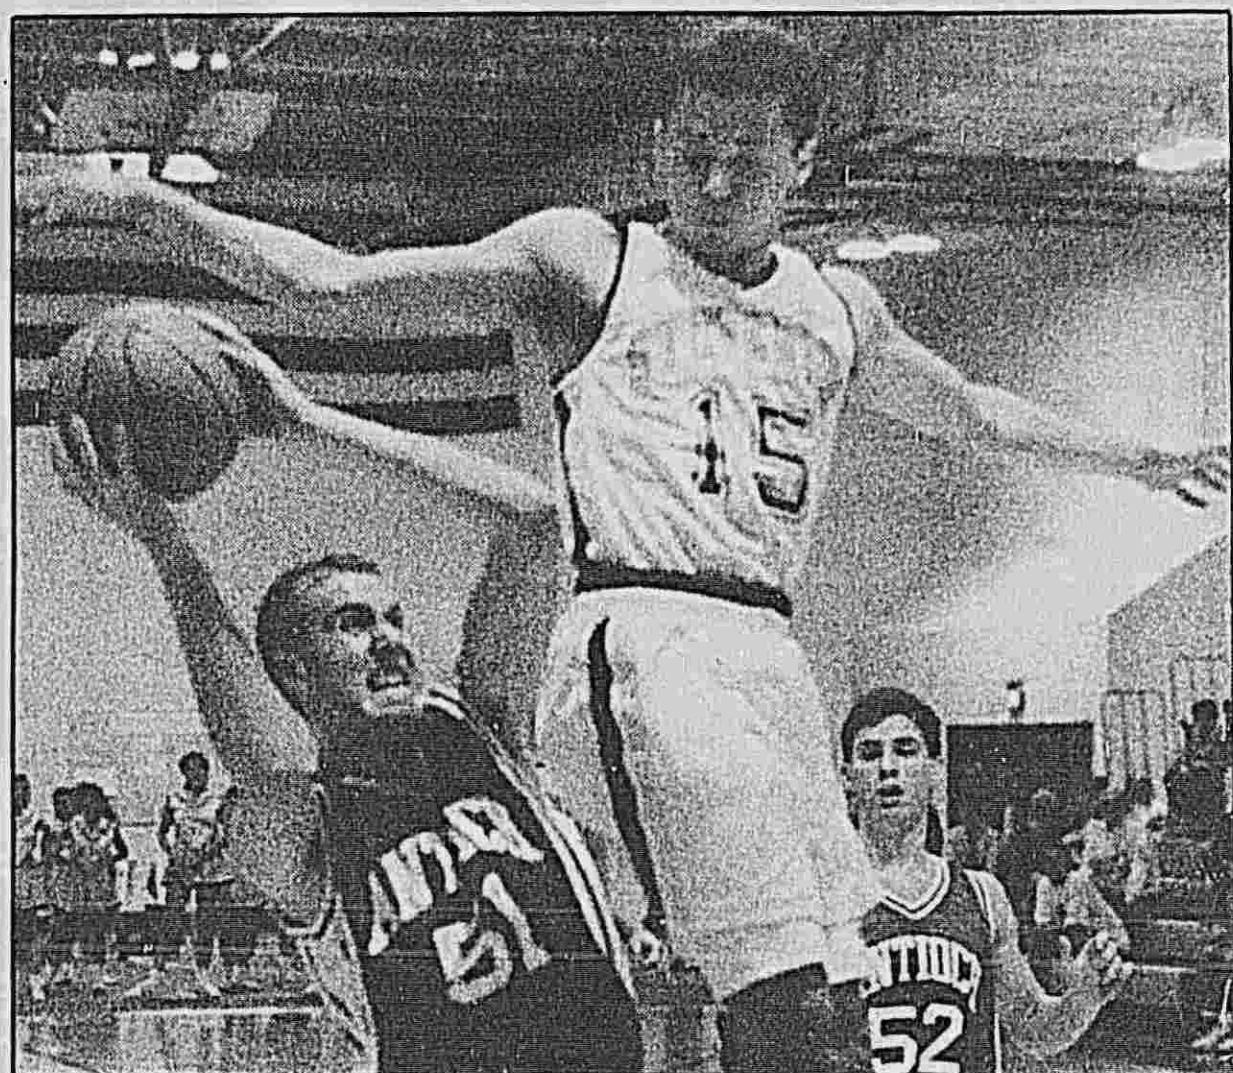

Johnsburg Athletic Director Jim Meyers said they received official word from Marian Central Tuesday.

"When we went through it, (Johnsburg assistant coach) Larry Zimmerman and myself found quite a few errors," Meyers said.

Johnsburg's champs were Jess Waldeck (112), Jim Edwards (119), Scott Malecki (152), Mike Bobnic (160) and Skip Madsen (heavyweight). Round Lake's winners were John Keaskowski (125), Justin Zdeb (130), Rusty Nofsinger (140) and Luke Tesch (171). For Grayslake it was Joe Kerns (103), Curt Onstad (135) and Rich Idstein (189).

The Panthers must now turn their attention toward Saturday's regional at Antioch.

"I think Waukegan and Antioch have the best shot at a winning it," Round Lake coach Bob Curran said. "Hopefully, we'll be right up there with them. Grayslake has some good individuals, and Warren has some good individuals. In a situation like this, it's who's going to get some help from the other teams."

Antioch, Mundelein girls find groove in victories

Two teams which have not found winning easily this year have had a chance to taste victory of late.

Mundelein picked up two wins in one week, with a 41-29 win over Wauconda the second half when we were ahead by seven," Wilhelm said. "All the inside girls had a nice game for us."

Stacey Beese had 11 rebounds and T' Niemi had

"North Chicago was a good game because we got a lot of people contributing," Antioch Coach Al Tamburino said.

Walsh was credited for her ability to get the ball inside.

"It is a matter of everybody getting hot at the same time," Tamburino said.

Dawn Morley led the way for Antioch against Fenton in a 55-32 loss Saturday. Fenton never trailed and forced the Sequoits into 26 turnovers.

"Fenton scored off the tip-off and it was like 'oh, boy'," Tamburino said.

Antioch's previous leading scorer, Stephanie Napaver, scored only eight points against North Chicago and did not play against Fenton due to strep throat.

Antioch is at Zion-Benton Feb. 8.

and a 72-34 crushing of North Chicago.

"It seems the team is playing at an intensity that is pretty good," Mundelein Coach Perry Wilhelm said.

Antioch clubbed North Chicago 55-26 before falling to Fenton 55-32.

Mundelein used a 16-5 run in the third quarter to pull away from the Warhawks. Kris McCarthy paced the Mustangs with 18 points.

"Lynn T'Niemi had eight quick points to start nine.

Against Wauconda, the Mustangs led 15-4 after one. "The start was they key. We set the tempo," Wilhelm said.

Georgia Chresenthakes led the Mustangs (3-17, 1-11) with nine points against Wauconda.

Antioch had a chance to get several players contributing to the offense against North Chicago. Shannon Walsh led the way with 14 points.

Breaking training rules costs two Antioch players

When the season started, Antioch boys basketball coach Jeff Dresser was hoping Tim Fox could step up and be a leader.

In December, Fox was hoping to lead the Sequoias back to the .500 mark and first division status in the North Suburban Conference.

In January, he scored the winning basket off a give-and-go from teammate Andy Haley in a 60-58 win over Zion-Benton.

In February, the seniors' high school athletic career is over.

"He was suspended for training rules violations," Antioch Coach Dresser said. School officials would not give details why Fox, a 6-foot-1 guard, was trimmed from the roster along with junior reserve guard Tony Eckhardt.

Fox, who scored 10 points in the win over Zion, will also lose any chance to compete for spring sports. Fox was hoping to play college basketball last year, perhaps at College of Lake County.

Eckhardt is eligible to return to Antioch High sports next season.

NSC at 10-0. Warren is 9-1.

Johnson said Coleman's most difficult aspect of the comeback will be ball handling. Coleman had 18 against North Chicago. Eric Roth had 12, Catchings had 11, and Piggott contributed 10. The 17-1 Patriots take their act on the road at Mundelein Feb. 7 and Zion-Benton Feb. 8.

Mundelein fell to an improving Lake Forest club 72-61. The Scouts put on a 26-19 second quarter run, dropping Mundelein to 5-5, 10-8.

"We're looking for consistency. We don't know who is going to play well each night," Mundelein Coach Dennis Kessel said.

Kyle Kessel led the Mustangs with 16 points. Mundelein faces the NSC leaders next, hosting Stevenson Feb. 7 and at Warren Feb. 8.

Howie Filip, a 5-11 senior, is expected to take Fox's place. "Howie ran our offense and played defense great. He did a nice job this weekend. He's played small forward, point guard and off guard," Dresser said.

the Patriots with 15 points, and Kenyon Catchings had 11.

"We played exceptionally good defense in the first half," Stevenson Coach Ken Johnson said. The Pats led by an amazing 54-33 at intermission.

Coleman played about one quarter against Antioch, two and one-half against North Chicago in an 81-73 Pats win. The North Chicago win gave the Patriots sole possession of first in the Second quarter lifts 'Cats

Libertyville's girls basketball team used a 20-9 second quarter run as a springboard to a win over crosstown rival Carmel Tuesday.

The Wildcats improved to 12-7 with the win, while Carmel slipped to 9-13.

After leading 14-12 after one, Carmel was held to two baskets in the second quarter.

Sarah Weiss led the winners with 18 points and 14 rebounds. Kelly Karl returned to the lineup, contributing nine points and five rebounds. Amanda Wantabe also contributed nine for the winners.

No Carmel player scored in double figures. Meghan Morgan led with eight.

Carmel used a 22-point third quarter to gain a 60-48 win over St. Francis de Salles. Leading the way was sophomore Natalie Gambit, who scored 24 points. Carmel downed Conant 60-51.

Parings are out for the Round Lake sectional complex Feb. 17 and 18.

First nighters are: Warren vs. North Chicago in the match between the first and last seeds; No. 9 Carmel at No. 8 Grant; No. 13 Lake Zurich at No. 4 Round Lake; No. 12 Lake Forest at No. 5 Zion-Benton.

Games Feb. 18 are: No. 15 Mundelein at No. 2 Waukegan; No. 14 Antioch at No. 3 Libertyville and No. 11 Deerfield at No. 6 Grayslake.

Regional finals are Feb. 20, sectional semifinals and finals Feb. 25 and 27 at Round Lake.

The winner advances to the Maine West supersectional.

Feline Leukemia—deadly but preventable

by DR. KRZACZYNSKI
Gurnee Pet Clinic

Feline Leukemia is the most common cause of illness and death among domestic cats. Its cause is a virus, that may be carried for years in the healthiest looking cat, not causing any symptoms or illness at all. This deadly virus belongs to the group called retroviruses, the same group to which the Human Immunodeficiency Virus belongs. Very much like its human counterpart, the HIV, the Feline Leukemia Virus cripples the cat's immune system, leaving the patient vulnerable to many diseases. (Be reassured that this is a different virus and that it cannot harm people). The cat may live with the infection for a long time, spreading the virus to others without getting sick itself, or else it may develop a full blown case of leukemia (a form of cancer of blood and blood forming system) for which there is no cure.

That's the bad news. Fortunately there is good news. The last decade of intense research resulted in availability of a vaccine, available to veterinarians to help protect cats from getting the disease while minimizing the risk of negative side effects. The effectiveness as well as the safety of the vaccine has been improving markedly as several leading biochemical companies through advanced technology introduce continuously improved products. The other success was development of a blood test to tell which cat is already exposed to the virus. The test is done as an office procedure by most veterinarians as you wait.

Cats may be exposed to the virus, directly or indirectly at any time during their lives. House cats, who "never" go out, are obviously at lesser risk than cats who roam. One should be cautioned, however, not to develop a sense of false security. Any cat may get out and be exposed, be let out doors by accident, or for that matter end up at a hospital for a minor or major reason, and see other cats. The only known protection against this deadly disease is proper vaccination. All kittens should be tested and vaccinated. No cat should be introduced to the household until it tests negative and until it is protected through vaccination. Millions of cats are vaccinated annually in the United States, but control of the disease can only be accomplished by complete compliance, where all cats will be protected. Some countries across the world achieved free status in regard to some animal or human diseases. (U.S. is free of Foot and Mouth Disease of hooved animals, UK and Hawaii is free of Rabies etc.) We hope to stamp out the Feline Leukemia someday. If your cat has not been protected, call your veterinarian today.

Better Canines train dogs/owners

by RHONDA VINZANT
Lakeland Newspapers

Getting a puppy for the first time and want it to be a good experience? Want to learn to show your pure-bred? Or just plain tired of living with a dog that just won't behave?

Better Canines Dog Training in Mundelein has the answers: obedience classes for puppies and beginners and conformation classes for show.

"We are both in the business because we don't want to see dogs ending up at shelters," said Barbara Zywicki, of herself and partner Cathie Sabin. "Most dogs end up in shelters because most people do not know how to handle the everyday problems of dogs. Most can be cured of chewing, barking and be housebroken."

The pair have been training dogs together for several years and opened Better Canines in 1987. They moved to their new larger location at 872 Tower Road in November.

Their classes emphasize proper nutrition for dogs, pet therapy, animal psychology and proper care including how to brush a dog's teeth. They also talk about flea and tick control, grooming, spaying/neutering of animals and body massage for bonding and control.

An open house in the new facility is set for March 29 where demonstrations of obedience and agility training will be presented as well as a tattoo clinic for dogs.
